Child Tells Of Killing

Four-year-old Larry Hutchins, of Denver, Col., sits beside his grandmother, Mrs. Leona Hutchins, and tells Detective Chester Moody, of the Denver police, how a man killed his father, Robert, and wounded his mother, Mrs. Shirley Hutchins, after they had been halted on a highway south of the city. Police arrested a man on a train who allegedly admitted the slaying. He had hitch-hiked a ride from Hutchins, shot him to death, tossed the body from the car, fired a bullet into Mrs. Hutchins' head and drove the car into Denver. The suspect crashed the machine into another car and fled leaving Mrs. Hutchins and the child in the wreckage.

Fail to Break Hub Truck Deadlock

Representatives of employers and striking truck drivers got nowhere today in a State House conference with Prof. Douglas V. Brown of MIT, named by Gov. Bradford as moderator in the walkout, now in its second day with only fuel, food and medical supplies being moved by truck.

Prof. Brown, who conferred with employer delegations led by John H. Welch, president of the Employers' Group, and driver representatives headed by James V. Hurst, president of Local 25, and Nicholas P. Morrissey, international representative, said the situation was explored thoroughly but that no committments were made by anyone.

He said the session had adjourned until 10 a. m. Tuesday after two and one-half hours of discussion.

Employer representatives had no comment to make after the session.

But Hurst asserted flatly that there would be "no arbitration as far as we are concerned unless we get a settlement of hours and wages first."

Hurst also declared that since the strike started 30 concerns had signed contracts for a 40-hour week and $65 weekly pay and that their trucks would be rolling shortly.

He said the union planned no further meetings before Tuesday. Employer representatives, however, left for the City Club to hold a meeting this afternoon.

Prior to the session, Prof Brown had stated that his only assignment in the case was to get the two groups to agree to arbitration.

EXCLUDE 1500 DRIVERS

"I can't go into the merits of the dispute," he said. "All I can do is try and convince each side they should arbitrate. Under the law, I am allowed 15 days and must report my success of lack of it to the Governor. In the event I am not successful, I must give the Governor the reasons for my failure."

In the event he is successful and the two sides agree to arbitrate the dispute, striking drivers will return to work immediately.

Prior to the conference today, union leaders announced that 1500 of its 6000 drivers had been assigned to "essential transportation" in the movement of food, fuel and necessities.

Dr. John H. Cauley, Boston health commissioner, said his inspectors were at all food terminals, storage warehouses and the Fish Pier to supervise the movement of perishable food. He said there had been no difficulty in the movement of foodstuffs.

Brown, who is professor of industrial relations at MIT, was named by the Governor as moderator of the dispute under the new so-called Schlichter Law. In ordering both sides to confer with Brown, the Governor declared they must show cause why the dispute should not go to arbitration.

WAGE CONTROVERSY

Moderator Brown was named after the governor proclaimed interruption of trucking service "would curtail the availability of essential goods and services to such an extent as to endanger the health and safety of the Commonwealth and its communities."

Drivers are asking a new contract providing $65 for a 40-hour week, in place of $55.10 for a 48-hour week.

In declaring no such raise can be made, Ralph Cahouet, legal representative for 450 trucking firms affected, said drivers now are getting an average wage of $75 to $100 a week.

President Hurst ridiculed this figure and said the average pay in the Metropolitan area was $41.

FBI Probing Graham Deal

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R.) of California said today he received a letter from a New York brokerage firm indicating the Federal Bureau of Investigation is seeking information about grain trading by Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, President Truman's personal physician.

Knowland said he did not know why the FBI should be making an inquiry, as it is not illegal to deal in commodities.

FBI headquarters turned aside all specific questions but said it has been conducting a general investigation since last November into the effect of speculations in grain on the retail prices of grain products.

Bandit Grabs $3237 Payroll In Roxbury Shoe Plant Doorway

Two gunmen, one of whom waited at the wheel of their getaway car, escaped with a $3237 payroll taken from Michael Antonelli, 36, in the doorway of the Henrietta Shoe Co., Williams st., Roxbury, as he returned from a Boston bank.

Antonelli told police he picked up the payroll money at the Pilgrim Trust Co. and carried it in a cardboard box to the shoe company. In the vestibule of the building he was confronted by a man carrying a revolver.

He said the man snatched the box and money, covered him with the gun and ordered him upstairs.

Antonelli said the man continued to wave the gun until he reached the first landing on the stairway, then turned and fled out the door.

He said he ran along the landing to a front window and saw the man getting into a black sedan. Another man was waiting at the wheel.

Antonelli was unable to distinguish the license number since the plate was obscured by snow.

Injunction Hits Taft-Hartley Violations

UTICA, N. Y., Jan. 2 (AP) — An AFL teamsters' union was restrained today from "feather-bedding" and other alleged unfair labor practices in the first decision of its kind under the Taft-Hartley labor law.

U. S. District Court Judge Stephen W. Brennan granted injunctive relief to the National Labor Relations Board on behalf of the Conway Express Co., of Pittsfield, Mass., operated by Henry Rabouin.

The injunction restrains the AFL Teamsters' Union, Local 294, Albany, from engaging in six acts:

1—The calling of a strike which had for its purpose to force or require Conway's Express to cease doing business with the Mid-Atlantic Co. of New Britain, Ct.

2—Refusal to bargain collectively with Conway's Express.

3—Demand for a closed shop agreement with Conway's Express.

4—(Feather-bedding) demand for payment by Conway's Express for services not performed.

5—The threatening or coercion of Conway Express employes.

6—(Secondary boycotting) the inducing and encouraging by the union of employes of other employers to refuse to receive or deliver articles and materials handled and transported by Conway employes and equipment.

New State Labor Setup Rejected

A proposal to revamp the Massachusetts Labor Department's division of arbitration and conciliation was rejected today by the legislative recess commission.

By a 9 to 6 vote, the commission suggested retaining the present three-man setup with minor changes.

Gov. Bradford's personal labor advisory committee had recommended creation of a director of arbitration and conciliation under an eight-man board—four chosen from management and four from labor unions.

A minority report signed by six Republicans endorsed the new plan. The majority report was signed by five Democrats and four Republicans.

Pet Dog Tries to Save Baby Trapped in Pail of Hot Water

BROCKTON, Jan. 2—Seriously burned when she sat in a bucket of scalding water, Diana Heist, 27 months, Warren ave., was in critical condition at Moore Hospital today where doctors gave her only a 50-50 chance to survive.

The child was watching her mother, Mrs. Frederick G. Heist, wash a hallway. While her parent's back was turned, little Diana sat down in the galvanized pail, wedging herself so that she could not get out.

Buzz, the baby's pet Cocker spaniel, tugged desperately to try to free her and by the time her mother got her out of the bucket Diana had suffered third degree burns.

8-12 Inches Of Snow Due In Nor'easter

City, State and automobile organization officials joined this afternoon in warning all Massachusetts residents to get their cars under cover and attempt no motor travel except of the most urgent need, as northeast winds up to 47 miles an hour drove the third big snowstorm in 10 days into this area. A snowfall of 8 to 12 inches was expected to pile up throughout the State save for a narrow coastal strip where four to seven inches were expected.

All of New England was being whipped by snow and sleet that rendered highways and streets dangerously slippery.

Meanwhile, the weather bureau predicted this was only the forerunner of another snowstorm which would strike here Monday night.

Boston had a three-inch accumulation in its outlying streets at 2:45. Public Works Comr. Robert P. Curley ordered 250 extra plows, owned by contractors, to being work. These plows were to be shifted to the downtown area after the traffic rush tonight.

Up to mid-afternoon, the storm had been so spotty, and in so many places accompanied by periods of rain, that widely varying snowfalls were reported in cities and towns not far apart. Natick had snow sixx inches deep, while Wellesley reported but four.

Newton had a blanket of only one or two inches, Arlington two to three inches, Belmont two inches, Medford two inches. All those communities reported heavy slush in main streets.

Downtown Boston had deep slush and gutters streaming with muddy water that in some cases were dammed up by masses of old snow near catch basins.

One of the worst spots was Park sq., where buses arriving at the terminal displaced enough gutter wataer to sent it upover the sidewalk in waves. Buses from Worcester were from half an hour to an hour behind schedule.

Mayor Curley asked suburbanites not to drive into the city and, if their cars were parked here, to get them out at once.

Rudolph F. King, registrar of motor vehicles, appealed to all Bay Staters to keep their autos off the highways except in emergencies—and make sure of having chains if there was compelling necessity to travel.

The State Department of Public Works asked auto owners not to leave their cars on highways already narrowed by snow from the Christmas week storms. More than 400 state snow removal units and 2000 men were to be battling the storm before its end, late tonight.

Strongest warning came from the Automobile Legal Ass'n., which advised motorists to stay off all New England, New York and New Jersey highways. It announced New York had closed the Hutchinson river parkway, Saw Mill parkway and West Side highway, all dangerously glazed.

The city of Lawrence, its streets still banked in many places by the snowfall of previous storms, ordered the firemen to report to stations and canceled all leaves. Lawrence officials appealed to the Red Cross for 50 cots and 100 blankets, which the Boston Metropolitan Chapter provided for fire stations there.

At the order of Mayor Curley, Police Supt. Fallon ordered all policemen to warn householders and business establishments to have their sidewalks cleared before city plows began working the streets.

The mayor, after conferences with department heads and tele-

Girl of 8 Slain With Ice Pick, Knife While on Errand for Dad

CLEVELAND, Jan. 2 (AP)—The knife-pierced body of an 8-year-old girl who disappeared while on an errand for her father was found late last night on a neighbor's porch, less than a block from her home. Det. Lt. Peter Kekic identified the victim as Sheila Ann Tuley.

Kekic said what appeared to be stab wounds from both a knife and an ice pick were found on Sheila's back and head.

He said Sheila's clothes were torn and stained, and blood from her face was smeared on her hands and a near-by window. The body also bore severe bruises, Kekic reported.

Coroner S. R. Gerber said today there was little doubt the girl's death was a homicide, but that police still were checking the possibility she might have been struck by a hit-skip driver. He said she apparently had been stabbed and had definitely not been assaulted.

Police said they had no idea who killed the girl.

Edward J. Tuley, 34, Sheila's father, was searching the neighborhood for the child when he happened upon the scene shortly after C. James Endicott had summoned police. Police said Endicott told them he found the body on his front porch upon returning with his wife and two children from an overnight visit at near-by Mentor, O.

Tuley arrived while police investigated. He became hysterical at sight of the child.

Later, police said, Tuley told this story:

He sent Sheila to a drugstore about a block from their home for cigarets, an errand she had performed several times before.

When she did not return within an hour, he called police to report her missing, then started to search for her.

Employes at the drugstore told him Sheila had not appeared there. While he was looking around the neighborhood, he saw police at Endicott's home.

Kekic said Sheila, in death, clutched a small red plaid umbrella. This and a matching babushka which she wore were given to her for Christmas, Tuley said.

Police said they were investigating footprints and a tire track found near the Endicott home.

Det. Sgt. Jerome L. Slusser said it was possible the slayer knew the girl and might have thought he was depositing her body on the Tuley front porch.

Fire Sweeps Six N. Y. Buildings, 8 Overcome

NEW YORK, Jan. 2 (INS)—A five-alarm fire swept six buildings in the vicinity of West 58th st. today, and at midmorning the rear wall of one building collapsed with a grinding, thumping roar.

No one was injured in the wall collapse, although eight firemen were overcome by smoke during the early hours of fighting the blaze.

The fire apparently started in the four-story Loft Building at 230 West 58th st.

An 80-year-old woman leaped from the roof of a five-story tenement house to a life net, andsuffered only an injured leg.

Adults and children in night clothes, some carrying pets, were led by policemen to safety. Many were carried down aerial ladders.

The fire started at about 7 a. m. in a five-story factory building occupied by the Harry Goldman Rubber Co., manufacturers of mattresses and automobile seat cushions.

Flames raced through the factory building rapidly and soon all five floors were blazing. Tons of latex rubber stored in the building burned, giving off dense, black smoke.

Ice Storm Cripples Gotham Power Lines

NEW YORK, Jan. 2 (AP)—A heavy ice storm gripped the metropolitan area today and storm-harried residents were warned a new storm with high winds and freezing temperatures would strike before nightfall.

The weather bureau said one or two inches of snow would fall later today with strong winds and lowering temperatures. Ice already had caused hundreds of breaks in power lines, leaving thousands of homes and business places without light, heat or cooking facilities.

All flying operations were cancelled at La Guardia field. Trains from Chicago and the West were two and three hours late and commuter trains were also late.

Worcester Judge Backs Cooling Off Divorce Period

Americans prepare for everything else in the world except marriage. The so-called problem of divorce actually is a problem of marriage and usually attempts to remedy the situation are begun at the wrong end. There should be a one-year "cooling off" period between the filing of a divorce libel and hearing of the case.

These views were expressed today by Judge Carl E. Wahlstrom of the probate court at Worcester. He made them known in a letter to Atty. Samuel G. Thorney of Boston who is sponsoring legislation which would establish boards of domestic relations to try to effect reconciliations between estranged couples. Asserting that he favored a revision of the divorce laws in Massachusetts, Judge Wahlstrom said:

SHOULD FIRST PREPARE

"Let us begin at the beginning. I am of the conviction that before the parties have the right to marry, they should be prepared for marriage. We Americans prepare for everything else except marriage. Years of experience have taught me that before a couple has the right to marry, each should show by a certificate or other paper that they have taken a course or preparation and that they do know something about the economics and biology and other problems that confront a married couple.

"If we did this, we would go a long way in solving this problem. When the parties get as far as the divorce court, there is very little chance of doing anything about the matter. You might say that many libellants perjure themselves. This may be so, but if they will not live with their husbands or wives, the problem is not solved until the marriage is dissolved. Do not let me mislead you, I will not stand for perjury if I can help it."

WOULD ADD TO GROUNDS

Judge Wahlstrom said he favored adding two more grounds for divorce, incurable insanity and incompatibility of temperament. He added that a year's waiting period from the filing of a suit to the hearing of the case might serve as a "cooling off" period, but he added that this waiting period should be at the discretion of the judge and emphasized that adultery cases should be heard as soon as possible. The judge declared:

"Thus, my suggestion would be to change the laws so as to provide that when a libel is filed, the parties should appear before the court. This would give the judge an opportunity to see if a reconciliation could be reached. Then he would advise them to return to him in a year, and if he found that during that year the parties had lived separate and apart and had nothing to do with each other, then he would hear the case except that he would have the discretion to hear it sooner if he deemed proper.

"I have heard thousands of divorce cases and I think I know something about the situation. Let us talk more about first things, that is, improving the marriage laws before we do anything drastic about the divorce laws. The year cooling-off period would, I am sure, save many marriages."

Wills Duchess Of Windsor Fund

BALTIMORE, Jan. 2 (AP)—A preliminary inventory filed by executors for the late Gen. Henry M. Warfield, uncle of the Duchess of Windsor, today showed holdings of $854,719.

Warfield died Oct. 10. He had often been host here to the former British King and his American-born Duchess, the former Wallis Warfield Simpson of Baltimore.

The inventory listed $703,833 in securities and $150,886 in cash.

After making small bequests to employes, Warfield left his estate in trust for his wife and upon her death the income will pass to a daughter, Mrs. Anita Warfield Lewis. After the death of Mrs. Lewis, annuities are to be paid to a number of relatives, including about $15,000 to the Duchess of Windsor.

Sinclair Weeks Weds Tomorrow

Sinclair Weeks formerly of Newton and Mrs. Jane Tompkins Ranking, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wade H. Tompkins, of Nashville, Tenn., will be married tomorrow in Nashville, his secretary said today.

His first wife, Mrs. Beatrice Dowse Weeks, died in July, 1954.

Former U. S. Senator Weeks left his Boston home for Nashville yesterday with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hallowell, of Milton. His son, John, is confined in a Boston hospital and was unable to make the trip.

Weeks, who served as mayor of Newton and as a treasurer of the Republican national committee, was in the U. S. Senate in 1944. He was named by former Gov. Saltonstall to succeed U. S. Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., when the latter resigned to enter the Army.

Quincy Woman Has 108th Birthday Party

Great-great-grandmother Mary Elizabeth Lohnes observed her 108th birthday today, with members of her family around her to share a birthday cake at her home in Warwick st., Quincy. A native of Lunenburg, N. S., Mrs. Lohnes came to this country in 1904 after the death of her husband.

Her family includes two daughters, 17 grandchildren, 20 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren. Mrs. Lohnes suffered a stroke three weeks ago and since has been bedridden.

New Arab-Jew Battle Brings Death Toll to 511 In 34 Days

JERUSALEM, Jan. 2 (AP)—Arab snipers killed a Jewish nurse and sprayed a Jewish funeral procession with bullets on the Mount of Olives today, as communal strife ignited by the United Nations decision to partition Palestine continued for the 34th day.

The unofficial count of dead since Arab-Jewish violence erupted at the end of November mounted to 511, including 251 Arabs and 230 Jews.

The Jewish nurse was aboard a Hadassah hospital bus which eyewitnesses said was attacked on Mt. Scopus by Arabs using automatic weapons and grenades. Police opened fire on the Arabs and captured the house from which they had fired.

Hagana men rushed to the scene and a three-cornered battle between Jews, Arabs and the police ensued.

El Locker Theft Nets Him 3 Months

Allen J. Barbara, 21, O st., South Boston, was found guilty of larceny of $12 from the cash box of a subway locker in municipal court today, although he produced two witnesses who testified he was elsewhere at the time of the theft.

Julius Ansel, secretary to Mayor Curley and new city councilor from Roxbury, testified he sent the youth to the Municipal Employment Bureau last Dec. 15 to get a job. Miss Esther Elowitz, employe of the bureau, testified he was there from noon until 1 p. m.

William Garr, Blue Hill ave., Roxbury, employe of the American Locker Co., testified, however, that he saw the defendant take the money from the cash boxes at 12:30 p. m. Dec. 15. He said the youth fled while he was checking his claim that he was a company employe.

Judge Tomasello, informed the youth was a former employe of the company, said it was obvious that whoever committed the theft had inside knowledge. He found Barbara guilty and imposed a sentence of three months in the house of correction. Barbara appealed and was ordered held in $1000.

Probation in Theft For Attack Suspect

George A. Homsy, 30, Amherst st., Roslindale, former taxicab driver, admitted in municipal court today he took an electric clock and iron from a Washington st., South End, furniture store window but denied smashing the window Christmas Eve.

His counsel, Atty. Herbert F. Callahan, told Judge Tomasello Homsy lost his hackney license as a result of a charge of attempted rape, for which he is awaiting trial.

Callahan said Homsy had no money and, learning the window of the store was broken, went there and took the articles as presents for his mother. Judge Tomasello gave him a 15-day suspended sentenced and placed him on probation for six months.

Homsy was tried last June on a charge of attempted rape of Mrs. Miriam Simms, 20, Museum rd., Roxbury, in his cab last March. The jury disagreed and he is still awaiting a second trial.

Roxbury Woman Attacked By 4 Men, She Tells Police

Mrs. Grace Green, 45, of Alpine st., Roxbury, red-haired mother of four children, told Roxbury police today that she was criminally attacked by four men who offered to give her a ride home from the Back Bay.

She said she was at Dartmouth and Boylston sts., when a man she thought she knew asked her if she wanted a ride home. When she got into the car, Mrs. Green told police, there were six men in it. She said they drove her to Milton, parked in a secluded spot in the Blue Hills, and that four of the men attacked her despite her protests.

"I begged them not to. I told them I was married and had children. They laughed at me and said, 'So what?'" Mrs. reported.

She said they drove her back to Roxbury and left her at Cliff and Warren sts., where she found a policeman and told him what happened.

She described her attackers as about 25 years old, "except one who was about 32." Mrs. Green told police the men had two bottles of liquor and that they forced her to drink from one.

One man remarked, she said:

"Let's get her so drunk she won't know what happened."

Mrs. Green said her husband, Philip J. Green, was a retired letter carrier.

Council's Midget Racetrack Order Vetoed by Curley

In keeping with his pledge of last Tuesday, Mayor Curley today vetoed the City Council order which would license a midget auto racing track on vacant land off Old Colony blvd., Dorchester.

The mayor said he would veto the order after he conferred with Jesuit fathers who announced plans for a new $6,000,000 Boston College high school on a part of the property.

In his veto message to the council, the mayor stated in part:

"I have studied this matter and considered the opposition to the proposed enterprise voiced by the residents and property owners in this section. It is my judgment that such an enterprise would prevent a more desirable development already agreed upon from being established in this area."

The veto message will be delivered to the council at its final meeting to be held at 11 a. m. tomorrow. The council originally had set Monday as its last meeting but it was later agreed to hold a final session and luncheon tomorrow.

This Is How Hub Behaved During 1947

Drunkenness and parking violations increased in Boston during the past year but family life was better, according to the annual summary of Municipal Court business made public today by Clerk Daniel J. Lynch.

There was a total of 14,841 arrests for drunkenness in 1947, as compared to 11,785 in 1946. Of the total, 9488 were released by the probation officer and the remaining 5353 went to court.

Approximately 135,000 parking tags were handed out during the year, compared to 111,461 in 1946. Of the total, 17,302 went to court as fourth offenders and paid fines ranging from $1 to $50 for a total of $75,330. An additional $49,000 was paid by offenders who did not go to court for a total of $124,330.

But the domestic relations court had 29 cases less than in 1946 with a total of 443 handled during the year.

Sex crimes showed an increase during the year with a total of 778 individuals appearing in court as compared with 682 in 1946.

Robbery and larceny cases also increased. There were 144 robbery cases, compared to 108 in 1946, and 1067 cases of larceny, compared with 919 in 1946.

But there were only seven murder cases, whereas there was nine during 1946.

City Engineer Phanisch Dies of Heart Attack

Rudolph J. Phanisch, 66, of Beacon st., Boston, principal assistant engineer of the bridge division of the city public works department, died of a heart attack in a Washington st. restaurant this noon.

A 1904 graduate of Harvard, he had been a city employe since 1909. He is survived by his widow and two daughters. He had been in failing health for six months.

Can't Talk, Student Pens Note of Attack

A 25-year-old Bryant and Stratton student was found terrifically beaten on Brattle st., Cambridge, today—able only to scribble out a message that he did not know his assailant. Earl W. Bracket of Hillside rd., Watertown, was near collapse when police found him struggling along Brattle st., near Channing st., his face covered with blood.

At Cambridge City Hospital, doctors discovered he had suffered a fractured skull, broken nose and fractured jaw. The blood was dried, leading police to theorize the attack must have occurred more than an hour before he was found.

Bracket was unable to talk because of his injuries, but wrote this note when given pencil and paper:

"A man beat me. I don't know who he was."

Police were unable to learn whether the victim was robbed or involved in a quarrel. He had only change in his pockets.

2 Policemen Hurt In Crash With Truck

Two policemen were injured today when their car and a truck collided in Warren ave., Roxbury, near Pembroke st. John J. O'Connor, 54, of Ashford st., Brighton, and Timothy J. O'Keefe, 44, of Huntington ave., Back Bay, were released after treatment at City Hospital. Doctors said both sustained back injuries. The police report listed the driver of the truck as Joseph H. Rofelshohn of Ferriboro st., Roxbury.

Curley to Observe Week-End Retreat

Mayor Curley announced today he will begin a week-end retreat this evening with 50 members of the James M. Curley Court, Massachusetts Catholic Order of Foresters, at the Franciscan Friary, Rawson st., Brookline. He said his retreat would be interrupted tomorrow noon when he will attend the city council luncheon at the Parker House.

The mayor said Archbishop Cushing had designated Auxiliary Bishop John J. Wright to give the invocation at the inaugural meeting of the city council Monday when 22 councilors and three school committeemen will be sworn in. The council will elect its 1948 president at its first meeting Monday.

WEDS IN HOSPITAL—Mrs. Herbert Mansfield, the former Eileen Clifford, 20, of Reading, who was married in the Mass. General Hospital chapel to a hospital employe. She is a patient at the institution.

Month-Old Baby Girl Killed by Dog

SEATTLE, Jan. 2 (AP)—A German shepherd dog dragged its master's month-old daughter from her crib yesterday while the family slept and bit the child fatally. The father was Sgt. Robert May, 28, of Saltillo, Tex., currently stationed at Ft. Lawton.

GOP Compromise Seen in Martin

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (INS)—Rep. Allen (R.) of Illinois, influential House member, today advanced Speaker Martin of Massachusetts as "the natural compromise candidate" for the Republican presidential nomination.

Allen, chairman of the rules committee, and personal friend of the speaker, expressed the belief Martin "stands a good chance of winning the nomination at Philadelphia."

Allen's remarks were made as Chairman Carroll Reece of the Republican National Committee moved for party accord by formally renouncing policy-making as a function of the G. O. P. headquarters.

Reece has been criticized by some Republican Senators for attacking the Democratic programs without offering alternatives.

O'CONNOR KNIGHTED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (AP)—Basil O'Connor, president of the American Red Cross, has been named an associate knight of Great Britain's Order of St. John of Jerusalem, the Red Cross announced. He was cited for "humanitarian work of great proportions."

Nation's Leading Food Expert To Write Column for American

Queen of cuisine Ida Bailey Allen, recognized as the nation's most authoritative food expert, will begin her daily column in the Boston Evening American on Monday.

"Let's Eat," as her daily food discussion will be known, has been prepared after a two-year coast-to-coast survey embracing 10,000 American homes.

There is no part of the culinary art at which Mrs. Allen is not an expert and her column will prove unique, informative and satisfying to thousands of New England housewives.

Mrs. Allen is the author of 41 books on cooking and homemaking of which 14,000,000 copies have been sold. The National Radio Editors' Poll have five times voted her the nation's most popular commentator on home problems and credited her with an audience in one kitchen out of every three.

The male, who often rates himself superior to his better half when it comes to high-class cooking, will find plenty to hold his attention in the column. Mrs. Allen, whose advice is respected by America's leading chefs, has definite opinions on this talking point.

Beginning this Monday in the Boston American, "Let's Eat" with America's first lady of the kitchen.

FLIER RESCUED IN FAR NORTH—Battling snow and 40 degrees below zero temperatures, Alaskan bush pilots aid an Army Air Force pilot to a small plane in the sub-Arctic, 95 miles from Nome, Alaska, in daring rescue of six fliers whose B-29 Superfortress crashed in the wastes. The victims were forced to huddle for six days in wrecked plane before the rescuers could reach them.

Lowell Youth Held In Kidnap-Robbery

LAWRENCE, Jan. 2—Donald Coggins, 18, Lowell, was held in $100,000 for the grand jury today after pleading not guilty in district court to kidnaping, armed robbery and assault and battery, charges growing from the weird abduction of an Andover policeman and three other persons, Dec. 22.

Lacking bail, the youth was removed to Essex County Jail.

Coggins' brother, Michael, 21, received a life sentence here several weeks ago for murder.

The younger Coggins, an Army corporal stationed at Aberdeen, Md., allegedly beat up a Lawrence salesman, Francis Wholey, threw him out of his own auto in Andover, then kidnaped the others. The policeman was William Stewart. The kidnaper bundled him into an automobile owned by H. M. Sarkissian of Lawrence, who had his wife and their small daughter with him.

All but Sarkissian were released in West Boylston, the kidnaper forcing Sarkissian to drive him to Worcester, where the Lawrence man was robbed and forced out.

4 Communications Firms Hit by Strike

NEW YORK, Jan. 2 (AP)—Union employes of four overseas communications companies went on strike early today but the firms declared at noon service was being maintained without interruption by supervisory employes.

The companies handle two-thirds of the commercial communication operations between the United States and the rest of the world.

The striking workers are members of the ACA and the independent All-America Ass'n.

1000 Cops Brave Storm To Get Census Data

A street-by-street canvas of all dwellings and business buildings for the 1948 census was begun by 1000 policemen today despite the storm, which slowed up officers considerably in most sections of the city.

They have been ordered to obtain the name, occupation, citizenship and residence of every person 20 or older, as well as their residences as of Jan. 1, 1947.

Switzerland Visas Sought For Michael, Party of 34

BUCHAREST, Jan. 2 (AP)—The Romanian government asked today for 35 visas for former King Michael, Queen Mother Helen and their retinue to enter Switzerland.

Diplomatic passports were requested for Michael, who abdicated Tuesday, and his mother.

A spokesman for the Communist-dominated "Popular Democratic Republic" which succeeded the monarchy, said the requests might reach Swiss federal offices in Bern tomorrow, but that a reply was not expected before late Monday or Tuesday.

(A rendezvous with Princess Anne of Parma-Bourbon appeared likely in Switzerland. The pretty princess said in Copenhagen yesterday it "was love at first sight" at her meeting with Michael in London in November and that, "wherever he goes, I will follow him."

Premier Petru Groza told reporters Wednesday that Michael would be given a certain allowance for crown lands. It was understood at the time that an initial payment of $3,000,000 would be paid at once.

(Michael's known income at the time of abdication was about $414,000 a year from government grants, royal forests, farm estates and a privately owned timber tract.)

Switzerland also was said to be inquisitive about the exact business each member of the former king's party has in Switzerland, whether they are bona fide members of the entourage.

College Reds Spurn UMT, Back Wallace

By HOWARD RUSHMORE

Special to The Boston American

NEW YORK, Jan. 2—Henry Wallace's third party program opposing universal military training is expected to have widespread repercussions in local colleges.

Branches of Wallace's Progressive Citizens of America, known in student groups as the Young People's PCA, have official status on the campus of one public college and are operating without faculty approval in others.

At the beginning of the school year the Communist party's American Youth for Democracy enrolled most of its members in the Wallace youth organization, and the YPPCA has reflected approval of Red Fascist policies since that time.

ANTI-UMT PLANK

Announcement by Wallace that opposition to American preparedness would be his main plank in the 1948 presidential race is expected to touch off man so-called peace demonstrations in the various schools where the YPPCA has chapters.

This political sabotage of military training will be backed up morally and financially by the adult PCA groups, which already have trumpeted their approval of the Wallace plan to assure America's military weakness in the face of Soviet aggression.

PROPAGANDA RIFE

Wallace youth groups have several thousand followers on public college campuses, including Queens College, where the YPPCA has been officially recognized for two years.

Another branch has applied for a charter and faculty recognition at Hunter College. Although it has not yet been approved by Dr. George N. Shuster, Hunter president, whose opposition to Communism is well known, the YPPCA is active in propaganda work.

The YPPCA has organized other chapters at New York University and Columbia University and has branches in smaller schools throughout the city.

House Group Plans Panama Red Probe

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (AP)—Chairman Thomas (R.) of New Jersey announced today the House committee on un-American activities would make an on the spot investigation late this month of Communist infiltration in the Panama Canal Zone.

The Panama inquiry will be part of a five-point program the committee has outlined for immediate consideration. This includes a resumption of the investigation of Communist influences in Hollywood and hearings on attemps to steal atom bomb information, to indoctrination of Negro groups with Communism and the spread of Fascism.

Thomas said he would conduct the Panama investigation, assisted by Robert E. Stripling, chief investigator.

Rebels Fleeing As Greeks Lift Konista Siege

ATHENS, Jan. 2 (AP)—Greek guerrilla forces were fleeing today into the Grammos mountains after a "crushing defeat" inflicted in the battle of Konitsa, where a week-long seige of the government garrison was lifted.

The offensive against Konitsa was believed to have been aimed at capture of a capital for a Greek Communist government, existence of which was proclaimed in a Christmas Eve broadcast by Insurgent Leader Markos Vafiades.

A General Staff communique reviewing the seven-day battle said:

"This is the first fruit which has been reaped by the bogus government of Slavo-Communists."

The communique said one column of troops entered the town and relieved the Konitsa garrison yesterday, but a second column was held up by fire aimed at the Bourozani bridge, 11 miles away.

The communique disclosed that on the first day of the attack the Konitsa garrison, consisting of some 4000 men, was "completely isolated to a considerable depth" when a force of more than 3000 guerrillas made a frontal assault. Some sources estimated the rebel strength totaled 10,000 men.

The following day the communique said, the latter sent the commander of the Eighth Division a message:

"You may rest assured Konitsa is the grave of the guerrillas and not the capital they dreamed of."

Onetime Stray Pup Saves Lives of Family

ROYSTON, Eng., Jan. 2 (AP)—Two years ago Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chilton adopted "Smoky," a mongrel pup about to be put to death as a stray.

Today "Smoky" was awarded the bronze medal of the National Canine Defense League because he roused his saviors in time for them to escape a blaze which destroyed their home.

Army Rigs Phone Wires by Rocket

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (AP)—A method of shooting telephone wire over rivers, ravines and cliffs by the use of rockets has been developed by the Signal Corps, the Army reported.

In emergencies the rocket may be fired without the conventional rocket launcher, simply by digging a wedged shaped hole in the ground. Distances up to 150 yards are attainable by this method.

New wire developed for rocket-laying methods weighs only 48 pounds per mile, about one-third the weight of ordinary field telephone wire.

Frustrated Elopers Held in Somerville

She needed a few more years and he needed a few more dollars so the marriage plans of Ann Speridakes, 16, and Clinton Speiser, 22, both of Washington, D. C., ended in a Somerville police station today.

Their efforts to wed in New Hampshire proved futile. So they went to Somerville to visit friends and wired relatives for money. No money was forthcoming. Instead, Somerville police were notified to pick up Ann as a runaway. Both were held without charge for Washington police.

HELEN KELLER TO JAPAN

TOKYO, Jan. 2 (AP)—Miss Helen Keller, famous American blind woman, is expected to visit Japan this year for a series of lectures before proceeding to Korea and China.

Friend Ship, Scotland Bound, Reaches Boston in Blizzard

The "Yankee Friend Ship" which will carry more than a million pounds of food and clothing as New England's gift to the suffering people of Scotland arrived in Boston Harbor today at the height of the snowstorm.

The ship, the S. S. Lincoln, of the Anchor Line, was held up temporarily in the outer harbor but was expected to dock later at Castle Island.

As soon as the vessel is berthed, loading of the cargo of food and clothing will start. Loading is expected to be completed by the middle of next week.

As the Friend Ship arrived, Michael T. Kelleher, president of the Chamber of Commerce, issued a last-minute appeal for further contributions of food, clothing or cash to assure that the vessel is loaded to capacity when it sails.

One of the latest contributions was a carload of flour from D. Perini & Sons, Framingham contractors. Cash contributions which will be expended for food and other supplies now total $30,342.96.

Double Trouble In This Promise

READING, Pa., Jan. 2 (AP)—Albright College hadn't counted on twins when it promised a scholarship to Berks County's first 1948 baby.

As a result the college board of trustees used to solving things academic today has a human interest problem if not a technical one.

Two boys were born to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Houck, of Reading, Pa. The first boy arrived at 11:41 p. m., Dec. 31, technically ineligible for the scholarship. His twin brother arrived 30 seconds after 1947 became history.

Dr. Harry Masters, president of Albright College, said the matter of the scholarship would be placed before the board of trustees.

The board will have to decide between Thomas Penn Houck, born in the last minutes of the old year, and Richard Penn Houck, born in the opening seconds of the New Year.

Chinese Reds Shell Hopei Province Capital

PEIPING, China, Jan. 2 (AP)—Besieging Communist forces have started shelling Paoting, capital of Hopei Province, and the projectiles are landing in the city, Chinese press dispatches reported today.

U. S. Economist Named Grain Speculator

By FRANK B. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (INS)—A Commerce Department economist was named today as a speculator in a list disclosed by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Forrest G. Warren, business economist, topped the list of 17 Commerce Department employes named by the committee in its probe of commodity market speculation.

Senate investigators immediately demanded to know whether Warren was connected with the department's survey of American ability to supply food and other commodities in the interim foreign aid program.

The 17 names were listed in response to a call on all executive departments of the government to report employes who have had commodity market transactions since July 1, 1946.

The nature and extent of the various transactions were not given.

Besides Warren the list included:

Leroy H. Mantell and Thomas J. Murphy, analysts in the office of Domestic Commerce.

Warren B. Nelson, George A. Hermanson and Robert S. Lehman, all of the Census Bureau.

Gordon D. Massergale and James E. Bowling, engineers of the Bureau of Standards.

Walter Sabin, a patent office examiner.

Earl L. Williams of the Geodetic Survey.

Seven Civil Aeronautics Administration experts: Joseph R. Carney, Raymond R. Meyer, William E. Carpenter and John P. Rowan, inspectors; V. L. Perrotta and Harold A. Wilde, engineers, and Phillip Tocker, an attorney.

Leon C. Waite, State Adjutant of DAV, Dies

FRAMINGHAM, Jan. 2 (AP)—Leon C. Waite, 59, state adjutant and executive secretary of the Massachusetts Department Disabled American Veterans, since 1943, died today at Cushing Memorial Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Waite was an infantry captain in the first World War and also saw service on the Mexican border. He formerly was employment manager of the Pacific Print Works of Lawrence.

Waite leaves his wife, Gertrude, and a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth W. Farnham of Hartford, Ct.

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS: Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Department of Public Works. Sealed bids or proposals will be received by the Department of Public Works at its office, Room 858, Fifth Floor, 100 Nashua Street, Boston, Mass., until 12 o'clock noon, Friday, January 30, 1948, immediately after which proposals will be publicly opened and read at the Fourth Floor. The work to be done consists of the construction of a Heating Plant for Airline Stations 8 through 23 at Orient-ex Edward Lawrence Logan Airport. Plans may be seen at the office of the Department in Boston, Mass. Charge for specifications is $100.00, which amount is returnable to all who return the same in good condition whether or not they have bid on the work. Proposal guaranty shall consist of a certified check or a bid bond in the amount of $40,000.00 payable to the order of the Department of Public Works or other security satisfactory to the Department. All such bid deposits except those of the three lowest responsible and eligible bidders will be returned within two days, Sundays and holidays excluded, after the opening of proposals therefor. All remaining bid deposits will be returned upon the execution and delivery of the contract, or, if no award is made, then at the expiration of 30 days after the opening of bids thereof unless forfeited by failure to sign the contract as hereinafter provided. The successful bidder will be required to furnish a bond for the faithful performance of the contract in a sum equal to full amount of the contract. The surety may be a surety company or securities satisfactory to the Department. Attention is called to the minimum rate of wages to be paid on the work as determined by the Commissioner of Labor and Industries under the provisions of Chapter 401 of the Acts of 1947 and to the provisions of Chapter 151 of the Acts of 1939, as amended by Chapter 651 of the Acts of 1941 relating to sub-bidders. Complete information may be obtained from the office of the Department. Right reserved to waive any informality in or to reject any or all proposals. A proposal which includes for any item a bid that is abnormally low or high may be rejected as unbalanced. By WILLIAM H. BURACKER, Commissioner of Public Works. January 2, 1948

Truman Plans Balcony for White House

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (INS)—President Truman has decided to have a small outside balcony constructed on the White House south portico for use of the presidential family.

The White House announced today construction of the balcony, which will cost about $15,000, will begin within two or three weeks.

The balcony will be on the second story, just outside the family quarters. It will be enclosed by the stately columns which form a 40-foot ellipse in the center of the southern exposure known as the south portico.

The President's study and adjoining bedrooms will open onto the family porch which will be enclosed by perpendicular screens of the Venetian blind variety, replacing canvas awnings now there.

Presidential Sec. Ross said at present the Truman family has no outside porch for use in pleasant weather.

The porch will not entail any change in the present facade of the White House as it will be entirely enclosed by the columns of the portico.

British Food Ministry Doubles Cocoa Price

LONDON, Jan. 2 (AP)—The Ministry of Food increased the selling price of raw West African cocoa in the United Kingdom, effective Jan. 4, from $23.80 a hundredweight to $47.10.

The increase was necessitated "by the unprecedently high world prices which are governed by the New York market," the Ministry said. One of London's biggest chain restaurants announced the increase would mean a jump of about fifty per cent in the price paid consumers for chocolate candies and other similar goods.

MAINE MAN JOINS FCC

Bay State Legion Auxiliary Starts New UMT Campaign

Driving toward their goal of Universal Military Training, the Massachusetts American Legion Auxiliary announced today that a second petition demanding early UMT legislation by Congress would be circulated through Jan. 15.

More than 35,000 voters' signatures have already been secured by the auxiliary's initial drive to assure America's security through UMT.

"Accomplishment of UMT is our No. 1 program," Mrs. William H. O'Connell, Magnolia st., Mattapan, state president, said today. "America needs universal military training for our defense."

To spur national defense chairmen of the state's 340 auxiliary units in their drive, Mrs. Anna C. Mitchell, state defense chairman, announced that an award will be given at the auxiliary's next convention to the unit sending the most signatures on petitions to members of Congress.

The auxiliary here has named Jan. 6 through 12 National Defense Week during which each unit will sponsor a patriotic evening program. Each unit also will have a letter-writing program, in which personal letters from the auxiliary's 30,000 Massachusetts members will be sent to all Massachusetts Congressmen to back up the volley of petitions.

Ruth's Diet Gave Her New Look

At 175

React

Candid Camera catches reaction of Jackie Cooper and June Allyson as they listen to story told by June's husband, Dick Powell, during a party at a Hollywood night club. Jackie had his hair cut to "crew style" for his role in a forthcoming motion picture.

THE FUR OUTLET. 16 WINTER ST. BOSTON

THE WALLACE CANDIDACY

HENRY A. WALLACE has announced himself as the presidential candidate of a new and still unnamed political party, acknowledging that Communistic purposes will be ascribed to it and that Communists will support it, and neither disavowing such purposes nor disclaiming such support—although he denies being "for" Communism or "for" Russia.

Mr. Wallace is right that his candidacy will be called Communistic, as it should be.

His new party will be the Communistic party of the United States in everything but name.

It is heartily approved by Communists in the country, and they will enthusiastically campaign for Mr. Wallace.

Of course, Mr. Wallace will not be elected.

There are not enough extreme radicals in the country to accomplish that purpose or to even seriously approach it.

When the radical forces are all under one political roof they do not have much political influence, except with each other.

THIS WILL BE a change, and an improvement, for when the Communists pursued their political purposes and objectives within the Democratic party, and particularly within the New Deal element of the party, they were very influential indeed and managed to hold a lot of very high political offices and give direction and form to a lot of very important national policies.

BUT IT WAS AN UNNATURAL POLITICAL ALLIANCE, AND UNWORTHY OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY AND HARMFUL TO THE COUNTRY.

It will surely be a wholesome thing for the Democratic party to be absolved from the necessity for further adherence to this repugnant alliance.

And it will be a good thing for the country, too.

The Democratic party may not be able to win the next election without the Communists, but if it does win it will do so without the betrayal of itself and the country that characterized its victories under the Communist alliance.

If it loses the election, it will do so with honor.

AS FAR AS Mr. Wallace is concerned, he is merely a disillusioned and frustrated politician.

He left the Republican party to avail himself of Cabinet rank and the vice-presidency under the Roosevelt Administration, but even Mr. Roosevelt deemed him unworthy and unfit to occupy the first place in the line of presidential succession and wisely removed him from that dangerous position, thus depriving him of the actual presidency as matters ultimately turned out—or cheating him out of it, as Mr. Wallace probably regards the matter.

And when President Truman found him equally unworthy and unfit as a Cabinet officer, Wallace shifted once more; which is his real political career, since he was never a sincere Republican or a loyal Democrat, but more or less an opportunist seeking public office and personal power under the convenient guise of the immediate moment.

Mr. Wallace is in his natural political element now.

In that sense, at least, he has finally succeeded in doing the country a service.

He is now at last clearly identified and openly affiliated with the radical political company he has always sought and kept, and it is very largely a sorry and shabby company without faith in the Democratic American way of life or fidelity to its institutions.

IT WOULD BE REFRESHING now and in keeping with the facts, but probably too much to ask, if Mr. Wallace would complete his ideological cycle and CALL HIS NEW PARTY BY ITS RIGHT NAME.

A political party which is attractive MAINLY TO COMMUNISTS and which MAINLY COMMUNISTS CAN SUPPORT is in all face and candor a COMMUNISTIC PARTY.

No subterfuge of nomenclature will conceal its true character or deceive the American people.

To be so very much in love
That one feels every fiber ache,
And every moment you're apart
It seems your heart must break.
To be so desperately in love
That should the heavens fall,
Two souls would blend in sweet embrace
And never mind at all.
To have fantastic dreams of love
So wild they can't be true.
And then to realize, sweetheart,
My dreams have been of you.

MARTIN F. OWENS

DURING THE recent blizzard transportation tie-up the mails in New York city were kept moving. Yes, sir, the hardy mailmen lived right up to that quotation from Herodotus which is inscribed on the New York city general postoffice. In case you may have forgotten said quotation, it is: "Neither snow nor rain nor heat nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds."

PASSING BY: Louis Armstrong. Number one trumpet player. Before he became a professional trumpeter Louis worked in a dairy in New Orleans. His first recording was the "Dipper Mouth Blues." . . . Robert Montgomery. Brilliant actor and director. Among the many distinctions enjoyed by Mr Montgomery is that he, John Drew and Fred Astaire are the only actors accepted for membership in the Racquet Club in New York

STOGIE DEPARTMENT: In the case of identical male twins who grow up and marry, one is always childless. That's what a British man of science, J. P. Lockhart-Mummery, claims in a recent issued book. I previously reported this here and said I would check on it and try to win a stogie thereby. That I have done. Mr. Lockhart-Mummery owes me two stogies. Identical twins Alonzo and Leroy Stone, of Philadelphia, are both married and each is the father of a pair of daughters. Frank and Fred Shalles, identical twins of Berwyck, Pa., are also married and both are proud papas.

ASKING: Queries from clients. Q—As to that kid in Seattle who asked you to name his duck. Did you suggest an alliterative name? A—Haven't figured out a name yet for the duck referred to. However, as to alliterative names please note the most famous duck of all has one. I refer, of course, to Donald Duck. Q—Is Clem McCarthy on your staff of Horses and Women experts? A—Indeed he is. He is one of our experts on women.

STEADY JOBS: When an organization has an unusual number of long-time employes it is greatly to its credit. Young fellows should try to become connected with such outfits. Such an organization is the Neptune Meter Co., of Long Island City, N. Y., which has in its employ one hundred and seventy employes who have been with the firm twenty-five years or more STRONGEST BONE: The strongest bone in a man's body is the shinbone. A man's shinbone could support a bandstand with twenty players in the band. So an expert on the subject claims. There's something really interesting to check for that fellow in Milwaukee who checks all claims in this column. Arranging to have a bandstand with a twenty-player band put on your shinbone seems a some what complicated task. But that, of course, is my Milwaukee reader's problem.

SIDELIGHTS: What do you say is the average time a woman spends on one telephone call when talking to her "dearest friend?" I say 30 minutes . . . There are right now more than five million working wives in the U. S. A. Try to originate something not yet on the market that a working wife would not want to be without, and your fortune is made.

SOME APARTMENT: What is probably the largest apartment now available in Manhattan has 53 rooms and 14 baths. That is for family use. In addition, there are 19 servants' rooms. This is the triplex apartment formerly occupied by Arthur Brisbane.

PLEASE NOTE: The "roll your own" type of cigarets go out if not continuously puffed. That subscriber who complained his wife smoked in bed and went to sleep with a lighted cigaret in her hand, thus creating a fire hazard, should make her roll her own.

APPLE A DAY: Remember I told you about Trimbush, a British thoroughbred, who after his morning workout will not budge a step until given an apple? Well, sir, that apple a day diet seems to have been doing things for Trimbush's speed and stamina. He recently won a two-mile race carrying a weight of 133 pounds. I am going to give my race horse an apple a day, when I get a race horse.

"Oh, let's not talk about ME any more! Tell me, what do YOU think of my paintings?"

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1948, King Features Syndicate

THE DEFINITION of treason in our Constitution, forbidding adherence to and co-operation with our enemies, is commonly understood to refer only to countries which have declared violent war on us. National and State laws go into some detail, but still there is a dangerous deficiency, exposing the nation to treacherous programs on behalf of an enemy who has not declared war.

Westbrook Pegler

That enemy, in the present hour, is Soviet Russia. A few years ago, Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy were in the same position.

We were impatient with the Nazis and even convicted and sent to prison for five years one defendant, George Sylvester Viereck, who admitted and still declares that he was pro-German but insists that he never was pro-Nazi and never in his life has been anti-American in any issue between the United States and Germany.

WAIVING THE QUESTION of whether we persecuted Viereck for his courage in maintaining an unpopular position I would point out that the Roosevelt government flagrantly defaulted the duty of prosecuting traitors who were pro-Communist and anti-American

I assume that we are agreed that to be pro-Communist is to be anti-American. Our Congress, which speaks the people's mind as plainly as it is possible to do, has held repeatedly that the Communist program is hostile to our form of government and thus, necessarily, hostile to the purposes of our Constitution.

Francis Biddle, one of the figures whom the late Roosevelt selected to serve his purposes as Attorney General, solemnly acknowledged that enmity.

The most conspicuous failure of the Roosevelt government to prosecute Communists occurred at the North American Aviation plant in Inglewood, Cal., in 1940

We were "tooling up" for war production at the time, but our primary purpose was to put some planes in the air for the British and French.

The Communists opposed all such works because Hitler and Stalin then were allies. The planes were intended for use against Hitler, so the American Communists, as devoted partisans of the Nazi regime, tied up the plant.

I cite this case among many no less flagrant because it happened that in this one Roosevelt lost his temper and said this was a violent insurrection wrought in the interests of a foreign power.

That power was Russia, of course.

OUR NATIONAL LAW bearing on this point, a law to sustain the constitutional forbiddance against treason, says that any one who engages in any insurrection—Roosevelt's own word—against the authority or laws of the United States may be imprisoned for as long as 10 years or fined as much as $10,000 or both.

Still, after American soldiers had opened the Communist picket lines and the insurrection had failed, not a single person was punished.

The contrast between this and the implacable treatment of Viereck will be noted. Viereck may have been guilty as charged, but no violence or military harm had come of his guilt, if any.

The trouble-makers of the United Auto Workers, however, were not even arrested, much less tried for the "violent insurrection."

THE UNION UNDER whose name this and the Allis-Chalmers insurrection and sabotage had been conducted was given an enormous monopoly of dues, fees and special privilege in a thousand plants.

This monopoly lasted throughout the war, although several hundred strikes over trivial spats continued to impede production.

My point is not to review old crimes against the people, although it will do no harm to educate those who were too young then and re-educate those citizens of serious men who have forgotten.

My point is that under modern conditions we may be at war even while we continue to observe the official amenities of peace.

At war with Russia, with Tito of Yugoslavia, with the government of Poland.

The people who wrote our early laws could not anticipate an atomic bomb concealed in New York harbor, a sudden flight or directed warheads over the top of the world to Chicago and Pittsburgh, or war by scourge and drouth waged by a nation pretending still to be friendly.

They did mean, however, TO PROVIDE THE DEATH PENALTY FOR TRAITORS AND SPIES.

It is our problem to decide just when war does begin and to provide for the execution of traitors and spies even while we continue to maintain outwardly peaceful relations with the enemy they serve. We must make this treachery dangerous, not pleasant, and hideous, not smart.

Who'll Get Scholarship?—Mrs. Kenneth Houck is shown in Reading (Pa.) with her twins, Thomas (left), born 19 minutes before the new year, and Richard, born 30 seconds after 1948's start. They were named officially the "Bicentennial Twins," in honor of Reading's celebration of its bicentennial. Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, FRIDAY, JAN. 2, 1948

HOLLYWOOD, Jan 2 (INS)—Here it is, at last, Danny Kaye's first for Warners is "Happy Times," suggested by the old classic "Inspector General" and the man who will handle the directing is Henry Koster. That's kicking the New Year off right for Danny, if you ask me.

Danny Kaye

But things aren't, apparently, so glowing in his private life. Chances of a reconciliation between Kaye and Sylvia Fine grow slimmer and slimmer—particularly with Danny taking off alone for Europe early in January.

They didn't see one another through the holidays, either. Sylvia was at Louis B. Mayer's party by herself—but if she is blue she isn't wearing her heart on her sleeve. She's kept her head up all along.

Getting back to "Happy Times"—it starts in March soon after Danny returns from abroad.

DO YOU DOUBT Bing Crosby's popularity? Well, listen to this—for the fourth year in succession, this popular gent leads the annual Motion Picture Herald poll of the best money making stars of 1947.

Betty Grable moves up from 9th place last year to second this year. Ingrid Bergman second in 1946, is third this year. Gary Cooper is again in 4th position. Humphrey Bogart, Sir Ronald Colman, Bing Crosby, Van Johnson, Clark Gable, Gregory Peck, Bing Crosby, Claudette Colbert, 9th and Alan Ladd 10th.

Roy Rogers heads the Western winners.

IF THE CURRENT financing negotiations don't hit a snag, Luther Adler, who is Sylvia Sidney's ex-husband and a well-known stage actor, will produce a picture for Columbia.

James Jam's novel, "A Prophet By Experience," published in 1942, has been bought by Adler and Jules Dassin, director of Mark Hellinger's last picture, "The Naked City."

I don't believe there will be any trouble about financing a picture with talent of this order. So I think it is safe to assume that the middle of February will see Dassin directing and Adler producing the Jam novel. By that time Adler will have completed his gypsy role with Rita Hayworth in "The Loves of Carmen."

WHILE Roy Rogers and Dale Evans were in Oklahoma for their wedding at the home of William Likins, the millionaire cattleman, there were a lot of business conferences. There's plenty of money in Oklahoma, and Likins and Governor Roy Turner a millionaire, are reported interested in the idea of putting Roy in business for himself.

Rogers and Republic have had a number of battles, and he's confident that he can get away just as Gene Autry did. And while he was there the money flows, he talked business, so you may hear news from that quarter before many days.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Lana Turner, who has had more publicity of a romantic nature than probably any Hollywood actress, was fit to be tied when she heard invitations had gone out signed "Lana and Bob Topping" for that much-publicized birthday party, Jan. 9.

When I received my invitation I called Lana. Both she and Bob Topping were in a state explaining that they never had authorized invitations of that nature. I shouldn't be surprised if they do marry when the way is clear but, certainly, neither one of them would have the bad taste to announce an engagement until young Topping is free.

I think in justice to Lana it should be stated that she never, at any time, said anything about wedding bells.

MARY PICKFORD leaves Sunday for Canada to be the guest of the Governor General and Viscountess Alexandria of Tunis in Ottawa.

While in her native country, Mary will show "Sleep My Love" in Montreal and Toronto as well as Ottawa, the proceeds to go to Canadian Appeal for Children.

Then she'll go on to Bristol, Va., to attend the 102d birthday of General Howell, the only surviving general of the Civil War. It seems incredible that he's still alive, but he was with General Johnston, in the Battle of Vicksburg. Mary's invitation is certainly a masterpiece of Southern composition, signed by several governors and mayors.

OPEN LETTER to Ronald Colman:

Dear Ronnie:

After 25 years of devotion to you as one of your most ardent fans, I now renew that allegiance for another 25 years or more.

I've just seen you in "A Double Life," and you have excelled yourself by giving us a performance that will go down in history as one of the all-time great ones. I've seen "Othello" many times, but I put your performance as the jealous moor against any of them. Now, that's strong language, but it's not only your Othello part, it's the whole picture; your charm, your diction, and your dramatic performance.

And while I am handing out the compliments, may I say that George Cukor is back again as a top director, and he, too, deserves an accolade for his direction.

THERE CAN BE no papers signed for John Lujack to make a movie until Notre Dame gives permission. Sam Katzman, who is trying to sign Notre Dame's famous backfield star, wants to star him in "The Fighting Irish," a story of Notre Dame, and until the story is approved by the college, Lujack cannot do business.

He will be paid $25 000 and the picture will be released by Columbia if Katzman gets the okay, and I suppose he will, since he will pattern the story to their wishes.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random:

Hedy Lamarr and Billy Wilder started out the New Year by dancing and dining at the Mocambo. Georges De Saint Germain, who has the exhibition of star paintings at the John Decker Galleries, sent me a beautiful one of Hedy Lamarr before Elizabeth of Austria's Castle. He thinks she'd be wonderful in the part.

Sitting at a table near them were Jacqueline Dalya and the very handsome Maharajah Satyapal Padma Krishma of India.

Well, you never can tell in this town. Diana Lynn was at Ciro's with Bob Neal and everything apparently was honkeydorey.

Bonita Granville and her husband, Jack Wrather are in Dallas for a few days.

Joan Barton, who is no longer Earl Muntz' heart-throb, reported with another well-known man-about-town, whose name we are not mentioning at this time.

Philip Reed, one of our best tennis players, will represent Hollywood in the amateur tournament in Rye, N. Y., starting April 11.

Eve Arden

Eve Arden and William Arlington, her wealthy Montreal sportsman admirer, are getting along famously, as I thought they would. He returns to Canada next week on business, and will come back here to live permanently. Maybe it's as easy to love a rich man as a poor one, so they say.

I'm so sorry for the Vincent Prices whose two dogs were run over. One was killed and the other seriously injured.

Joe Pasternak has signed Sandford Adler's small son Brian, to an acting contract at M-G-M. Brian is about seven years old and his father owns the Flamingo and El Rancho Vegas hotels in Las Vegas.

Frank Sinatra's New Year's gift to Nancy is a deed to the $100,000 home he has been building in Palm Springs. The whole thing, including furnishings was given to Nancy.

My Boston

By Alan Frazer

WHAT'LL THEY THINK OF NEXT? Because Boston soon will install parking meters, a gadget that came to light last week in San Francisco becomes news here.

Park-O-Meters (the type you'll find at Logan Airport) had been installed on trial in S. F. As a Christmas gift, a salesman for a rival parking-meter company distributed bottle openers to all the businessmen in the district served for the trial. They were rather odd-looking bottle openers, and to each was affixed a tag. On the tag were these words: "I'm a bottle opener, but incidentally I'll also operate your parking meter, free." The businessmen didn't try them on the meters, but the police did. The salesman was arrested . . . And another gadget that we'd like to report to you is an attractive little black and copper lamp about 10 inches high. You put it on an end-table beside an easy chair, and your guest will not only admire it but try to light it. Eventually he pulls down the copper shade and finds it's only a cigarette holder—but what a nifty one! A Providence concern thought up that one.

GOV. BRADFORD has a good, permanent State job at his disposal, owing to the death of Joe O'Brien, chief investigator and counsel of the Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission . . . Unimpressed by the New Year spirit, a Boston landlady told her tenants they could hold a party provided the guests went home at 11 p. m.! . . . Kathryn Forbes, author of "Mama's Bank Account," on which is based the play "I Remember Mama" opening at the Colonial Monday, has suffered a breakdown and will be laid up for three months . . . That Judge Joseph Gill is of Detroit, who got into the news the other day by fining a man who rang a false alarm just so he could wish the firemen "Merry Christmas," is the old Medford High and Tufts footballer. Medford's athletic field is named for his brother, the late Jack Gill is (once with the Cleveland Indians) . . . Death never takes a holiday, but we wish he had taken yesterday off. Because we regret, more than words can say, the untimely passing (in an early morning fire in his Revere home) of Freddy Lane, the little chap who "made-up" the sports pages of this newspaper.

NOTES FROM THE BACK OF AN ENVELOPE: We hear the ABC (mentioned above) has decided to heed the plea of liquor wholesalers to enforce the fair-trade regulation that requires each wholesaler to post his minimum prices on the 10th of every month. The wholesalers made agreements among themselves not to cut prices, but some always broke the agreements by offering retailers a discount of $1 a case, or one case free with every 25 purchased . . . One blue after another: Leonard Elliott and Irma Glaser played the Ruban Bleu (Blue Ribbon) in N. Y. for 26 weeks before bringing their zany musical satire to the Somerset. They left Boston Wednesday to start an engagement at New York's Blue Angel (run by a former employe of the Ruban Bleu) . . . Friends of Louis Webster, former State commissioner of agriculture, expect Gov. Bradford to appoint him to his old job when Comr. Fred Cole's term expires this year. Cole was appointed by ex-Gov. Tobin. At Blackstone, Louis has 1200 apple trees, one of our largest orchards. Every year he tells his man to prune the trees lightly the first time around and to leave the cut twigs on the ground. Rabbits and field mice banquet on the twigs, leave the trunks of the trees alone.

HOBBIES ARE WONDERFUL! William J. Connors of Lenoxdale ave., Dorchester, has 40 antique clocks, all of which he has put in first-class running condition. One's a Swedish clock with a little man who comes out and plays a folk tune every hour, on the hour. The little fellow must be 80, because that's the age of the clock . . . You'd think Mrs. Connors would be kept pretty busy dusting off all those clocks. But, come to find out, she has a hobby, too, and has stocked the house with 350 dolls. They're all nationalities, and one is a tiny Dr. Dafoe (no doubt, a favorite doll among quintuplets) . . . Mrs. Connors tells us that boy dolls are rare. Which reminds us that we once bought a boy doll for a little girl, and we were so surprised . . . The State champion squash pie maker will be named next Wednesday at the Union Agricultural Meeting in Worcester. Meanwhile Chet Conklin and Snub Pollard demonstrate the fine art of pie throwing at the Gay Nineties. The old Keystone Comedy pair love to reminisce of their days with Charlie Chaplin, Mabel Normand, Ford Sterling, Charlie Murray, Billy Armstrong, Ben Turpin, Mack Sennett. Snub says his nose was frozen one day in 1915 when Chaplin and Armstrong for five hours made retakes of a scene in which they threw ice cream cones in his face

CLEANING OUT OUR POCKETS: A week from today the State Public Utilities Commission will hear that complaint of the City of Boston Cab Ass'n which we told you about long ago against the Sutcliffe Transportation Co., operators of Logan Airport limousine service. The Association says the Sutcliffe cars pick up and drop passengers at so many points, it's like a taxi operation. But Sutcliffe has filed a counter-request for permission to pick up and let off at the two railroad stations . . . Regarding that attempt of the midget auto-race people to set up business in Dorchester, it develops that Massachusetts has half a dozen midget tracks, drawing crowds up to 8000 at $1 a head. Sen. Joe Murphy of Dorchester wants the State to slap a tax on those tracks . . . Albert Flamand did not take the post of maitre d'hotel at the Touraine Surrey Room which began its continental dining style yesterday. Instead, it's Robert Valsey, once of the Metropole in Geneva.

EFFECTIVE TODAY: Young men with the equivalent of a high school education may select a Navy trade school prior to enlistment, with the assurance that they will be placed in the schools of their choice after boot training . . . Speaker Joe Martin relaxed during his holidays by making eight speeches.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2—Ordinarily I do not weep . . . and wail for politicians, but every four years I feel a slight pang of sympathy for them. They get so little rest.

In the life of a politico the fourth year is the hardest. For three years, if their party is in, they can be pat on their patronage; if their party is out they just mark time. But along comes the fourth, or presidential year and they have to work and worry like the devil.

There will be few moments of relaxation for the major politicos this year. Ask one of them when he intends to take his vacation and he'll explode: "What—in an election year? What d'ya think I am—a traitor to the party?"

Miami Beach, Palm Beach, Palm Springs and other resorts won't see many politicians this winter unless they are campaigning. They won't be able to get away in the spring either, because the campaigns will be getting into gear. Early summer will see the national convention, which no politician feels he can afford to pass up for fear a bolt of lightning might strike him with a vice-presidential nomination. And after that comes summer.

Ah, the good old summertime! The good old summertime—nuts! The politicians will be in a lather of perspiration from rush to rumble. They'll be trying to cover ground faster than Joe DiMaggio.

THE VOICE of the turtle will be heard in the land—and it'll be a snapper. Hot winds will blow: "—— and I tell you again, and again, and again, the glorious principles of the Democratic party will —," "no matter what evil men may say unto you, the Republican party is the true party of progress —," "my friends—my friends ——"

Autumn and the leaves will be turning red, matching the purple kissers of the orators as they puff and blow—truly a riotous color scheme, my fellow citizens. No fall vacation for the politico. His man might win without him—and he wouldn't be appointed postmaster general.

Dull November days, saddest of the year, will see the election come and go but still no respite for the politico. The mad scramble to determine who goes in and who gets heaved will be on.

The fourth year is with us again, folks, and it bids fair to be a dilly. Morning, noon and night it will go on, or, in the immortal words of the poet:

"Between the dark and the daylight, when night is beginning to lower, comes a pause in the day's occupation: 'What the heck about Eisenhower?'"

But it'll be a great year folks, and stand for something we should cherish. Too many countries of the world today have a choice of only one set of candidates. We still have a choice of two.

JOSEPH B IRVINE, chief of the District of Columbia's bureau of vital statistics, revealed that more babies were born in Washington in 1947 than in any other year in history. The stork, as Sherman Billingsley and I always say, brought 27,912 blessed bundles.

Mr. Irvine predicted, however, that births would fall off in 1948.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

(Copyright, 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

NO ONE WOULD HAVE THOUGHT it possible 10 years ago or even five, but grand opera, as they used to call it, actually has been made to pay. The Metropolitan Opera House, which used to be supported by the Diamond Horseshoe of the super-rich and always lived in poverty, is now actually a business proposition that makes its way without begging to cover deficits.

The profit is small, only about $12,000 for 1946-47, and were this a profit-making business that had to pay taxes, there would have been a deficit. Fortunately, common sense recognizes opera as a public service.

In the old days, the dowagers and their parties used to attend, or buy boxes and not attend, because it was one of those things that was done. A few music-lovers could be found among the dowagers, but most of them were more concerned with being seen than listening, and as long as opera catered to them, it was undoubtedly in many respects vulgar.

Nowadays, so little attention is paid to such notabilities that recently, to attract the photographers, one of them, a woman, smoked a cigar, which is no worse than the penchant another had for standing on his head.

THE MAIN BODY of opera-goers is not of this ilk. They go because they love that kind of music. Fewer barbers are about to earn an honest dollar as a claque.

Among the standees are more young people, boys and girls, students judging by their careless clothes. In the intermissions, they speak with the meticulous jargon of those who have read many books and listened to more recordings.

The radio has done much for opera, although last year it brought only $166,000 in cash. Thousands listened to the opera on Saturday afternoons on the radio and enjoy the opera quiz and Professor Goldowsky's extraordinary capacity for making the obscure clear even to the uninitiated.

There are enough who prefer opera to football, who had rather listen to Jan Peerce and Ezio Pinza than to the shriek and shout of some radio announcer.

Those who listen on the radio develop a yearning for reality and when they get a chance they go to the Metropolitan or take it in on tour. In fact, the tours have helped to earn the little profit, bringing in $770,000 last year.

OPERA is a musical adventure that does not appeal to everybody. My friend, Westbrook Pegler, abominates it.

On the other hand, no finer melodrama has been written than "La Giaconda" and no tear-jerker superior to "Madame Butterfly," which, having first been written in English, should not be sung in Italian. No American naval officer would speak Italian to a Japanese young lady—particularly about their love life.

Be that as it may, the startling fact about the Metropolitan is its Americanization. An increasingly large number of its staff is native. Edward Johnson, who manages the enterprise, had to call himself by an Italian name when he first tried to make the grade. That is no longer necessary.

Auditions are held for American young men and women and an astonishing number make the grade. In fact, some of them are now Metropolitan stars. They are young and not a one of them is a Caruso or a Patti or a Schumann-Heink, but they are worthy of the high traditions of the Metropolitan and it does one's heart good to know that we produce something superior to Frank Sinatra in this country.

AND THAT, in a measure, must explain the popularity of the Metropolitan and of Tanglewood and of so much good music on the radio and the constant increase in the sale of important recordings.

The younger generations of this country have become more music-conscious and are no longer satisfied with the artificialities of crooning and the roar of jazz and the meaningless riot of swing. They seek real music.

I personally, as an utter and complete amateur, do not go much by what the critics say. I go to listen. I am always thankful that opera and the symphony are available to give me the richness of sound and color and that sense of being wafted into eternity.

Reds Score on U. S. Again Via Romania, Says Wiegand

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND
Dean of American Foreign Correspondents
Written Expressly for the Hearst Newspapers

CAIRO, Jan. 2—Soviet Russia and Communism scored another notable political victory and America's policy suffered another defeat in the last hours of 1947 when King Michael of Romania abdicated his throne.

The young king, practically abandoned by America and Britain in disregard of pledges and commitments made by them found his throne untenable in the midst of the Red sea of Communism.

Romania has now been declared a "People's Republic" by the Communist-dominated Romanian parliament.

Thus, again, one of my forecasts of European developments has been fulfilled. In an article from Rome published in the Hearst newspapers last Sept. 6, I reported the Communist government at Bucharest headed by Petru Groza had made plans to remove or force Michael's abdication, and the parliament would declare Romania a republic.

Michael, who is 26, had wanted to abdicate since 1945, when he was quoted as having said:

"America and Britain have let us down; we cannot longer hope they will do anything to help freedom in Romania."

But Michael had been the Romanian people's only symbol of hope and resistance to their Red oppressors.

Last-minute efforts to set up a popular monarchy by enthroning 11-year-old Stefan, son of Princess Ileana and Archduke Anton of Hapsburg, with a regency council to carry out governmental functions, were reportedly frustrated by Anna Pauker, Romania's Communist foreign minisreress, and other Red leaders.

This plan was said to have been rejected by Moscow, too.

King Paul of Greece is marked for the next Communist pushover.

Romania as a Communist Republic is another stage in the consolidation and expansion of Soviet Russian power in eastern and southeastern Europe.

PHILIPPINE OIL TIEUP

MANILA, Jan. 2 (AP)—Temporary settlement of a strike by 1300 workers of major American oil companies in the Philippines was announced by the court of industrial relations as a creeping paralysis began to overtake Manila's completely motorized transportation system.

Child Deserters Held in Shooting

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., Jan. 2 (AP)—A young married couple who abandoned their two small children—one of whom was later found dead—are being held in jail here in connection with the robbing and shooting of a Negro taxi driver.

The parents were identified as Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Cook, both of whom were being sought when they left their seven-year-old daughter and three-year-old son in a desolate swamp.

"We found the little girl dead on a small hill by the side of a river," police related, "and the little boy almost dead in the bushes not far away."

Cook and his brother, Irene, are charged with robbing and shooting the cab driver. Mrs. Cook is charged with being an accessory.

The men and Mrs. Cook with the children, fled in the taxi after the shooting, police declared, and after abandoning the car, stole a boat on the Flint River.

PRAYDA PRAISES WALLACE

MOSCOW, Jan. 2 (AP)—Pravda, Communist party organ, devoted a four-column story today to Henry A. Wallace's Milwaukee speech Tuesday, saying that the third party presidential candidate was greeted with "a wild ovation and interrupted many times with enthusiastic applause."

U. S. OUT OF N. AFRICA

PORT LYAUTEY, Morocco, Jan. 2 (AP)—The U. S. has turned back to France its last naval base in North Africa.

CATCHING COLD?

Don't waste time; germs can multiply to complicate a cold! Listerine Antiseptic kills throat surface germs by millions.

Act fast when a cold starts to get you in its grip. Go after throat surface germs before they go after you. Gargle full-strength Listerine Antiseptic, right away.

Actual tests showed reductions of bacteria on mouth and throat surfaces ranging up to 96.7% fifteen minutes after the Listerine Antiseptic gargle, and up to 80% one hour later.

What's more, in tests over a 12-year period, those who gargled Listerine Antiseptic twice a day had fewer colds, and usually had milder colds, and fewer sore throats, than those who did not gargle Listerine Antiseptic.

phone talks with public utility executives to line up a storm battle plan, said filling station proprietors had been unco-operative during recent storms and would be held to account this time.

Curley charged they cleared their driving lanes, then pushed the snow into the streets after city plows had cleared them. He ordered police to warn and check the filling station men this afternoon.

To augment the city's own snow fighting equipment, 300 plows owned by contractors were being held in readiness for action.

Air travel was halted early this morning at Logan International Airport, East Boston, while La Guardia Field, New York, closed last night during a severe ice storm.

Winds of more than 50 miles an hour prevailed off the coast. The 400-foot Liberty-type collier, SS Milton B. Medary, from New Orleans, was blown against a dock in Quincy after it attempted to leave its berth on the North Weymouth side of Fore River. The collier was bdown across the stream, its stern becoming wedged at the Proctor & Gamble Co. dock. Tugs were called after its bow swung out and blocked the channel.

The emperature was expected to remain just below freezing in most sections throughout the storm. Winds are expected to shift to the northwest late tonight.

Snow removal and sanding apparatus were thrown into action early by numerous towns where the streets will bear layers of snow from the last storms. Many town officials, their snow removal budgets dangerously low, or wiped out altogether by the recent storms, declared emergencies in order to draw from other funds to pay road crews.

In the Berkshires, where freezing rain introduced the storm and formed a glaze later hidden by snow, many roads were classified as dangerous.

A freak development in the storm was reported in southwestern Maine, where sleet pellets "like buckshot" lashed the area as the center of the disturbance approached the state.

Connecticut roads became so bad that State Police broadcast a forenoon warning against any motor travel not "absolutely necessary."

Cape Cod highways, which were not made hazardous by the previous storms, were reported "slippery in spots."

Power and communications companies feared ice accumulations on wires along the entire New England coast, where rain and sleet heralded the storm.

Temperatures in this area were expected to remain in the just-freezing lower 30's throughout the storm's progress this afternoon and tonight.

Coal and fuel oil companies were receiving numerous telephone calls from snow shovel-weary householders in outlying towns who feared they might not be able to dig their driveways clear for the fuel trucks before their supplies were used up.

Butter Prices Due To Set New Record

Housewives at the start of the New Year were confronted today with signs that butter prices would climb to record levels and remain there indefinitely.

Marketmen said wholesale prices have increased to new highs. They quoted top grade at 97 cents a pound wholesale and $1.05 to $1.07 retail, and other jobbing prices at 94 to 97 for Grade AA, 89 to 96 for A and 91 to 94 for B grade.

PLAYCLOTHES have gone versatile . . . and to be fashionably chic . . . must give double duty. Dressier than they have been in years . . . playclothes run the gamut of tailored numbers to those suitable for cocktail and dancing . . . the skirt and neckline dictating the hour for which they are to be worn. This twosome is illustrative of the trend. Here Frances Sider takes soft, crease-defying Ponemah Spoven fabric and makes it into an outfit that switches from play to street by the addition of a skirt. The wide boned black grosgrain cummerbund picks up the black and white stripes of the fabric and is seen when the skirt is worn.

Dry Skin Needs Right Cream

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

SURPRISING AS IT MAY SEEM . . . the millions of women who seem to know at a glance whether a dress is their "type" . . . don't have the slightest idea as to what type of skin they have . . . nor what is the best and simplest care for it. They trust [illegible] which, fortunately [illegible] . . . but is out for them.

Just for fun . . . ask the next few dozen girls in your circles or friends what type of skin they have. Then kindly note how they'll lift their hands to the cheeks . . . stroke the complexion and then in a half-knowing (or unknowing) reaction . . . mumble something or other about it being dry, maybe, normal, maybe, oily maybe.

HELPS EVERY SKIN TYPE

"Heaven will protect the working girl" and very often to the point of her skin type. If you are one of these girls who don't understand what kind of skin you have . . . or don't care . . . you better be wise and place your faith in an essential cream that appears to be perfect for every type and texture of skin.

For the skin that is the least bit on the dry side . . . this essential cream is a year-round "must" to help combat those tiny-dry-skin lines. And this compound of only the purest and finest oils is also a godsend to protect normal skin from buffeting winds. And since even oily skins need extra care from chapping which coarsens the pores during the severely dry-ing winter months . . . this cream is again the versatile aid.

Of course, every face cream is fully effective only when properly used. So when you get this cream . . . look at the directions and follow them faithfully to get dividends on your money. First of all be a twice-a-day girl in the cleansing routine. Be sure to use upward and outward strokes when applying this cream . . . first from the base of the neckline upward to the chin . . . then from the chin to the cheek bone . . . and finally across the forehead, down the nose and across the chin.

AVOID HIT-MISS PLAN

These aren't just idle words. The application of cream whether it is a cleansing or a corrective product should be made knowingly so the skin may benefit from its emollient goodness. Slapping cream across the face hit or miss fashion is no way to get the most for your money, beauty and bounty-wise.

Would you scrub your nylons on a washboard to get them clean? Then why apply similar methods to your complexion . . . every bit as dainty and fragile as the hose! Treat your face kindly and it will reward you kindly, too.

After the cream has been placed on the throat and face in proper, expert method . . . then remove with tissue and brace the skin by gently patting it with cotton soaked in soothing freshener lotion. This is just a big little thing that can turn out to be a great big dividend for your complexion . . . so don't dismiss it with a gesture of denial.

If your skin is extra dry apply another extra-thin layer of this essential cream to be left on overnight for added lubrication.

To get the best results of a truly essential complexion cream . . . there must be the know-how of using it . . . simple though it is. For the basic and fundamental method of cleansing the face . . . apply the cream . . . as the model illustrates . . . with long, upward and outward motions, repeating movements until makeup is obviously dislodged . . . thus cleansing skin thoroughly. Remove with tissues, using the same upward and outward stroking.

For the name of this beauty-treatment essential cream, phone the Beauty Dept., Liberty 2-4000, daily except Sunday, or write me, care of the Boston American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Can Girl Marry Step-Uncle?

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:
I would like to know if you think it is possible for a girl 18 to marry her step-uncle who is no blood-relation? He is 21 years of age. "D. F."
Dear "D. F.":

As far as I know, there is no objection whatever to a girl marrying a man who is related to her in such a technical sense.

I have heard of a number of similar cases, one of the most unusual being that of a young man who married his step-mother's sister, thus becoming his father's brother-in-law and his brother's uncle, so to speak!

I don't think that you need have any hesitation at all in this matter, if you and this young man may fall in love [illegible]

Her New Kin

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:
My husband has a grown daughter, married and living quite near us. When she introduces me, she sometimes says, "my stepmother" and sometimes "my father's wife." As yet I have had few occasions for introducing her, but when I do, what form should I use: "my stepdaughter" or "my husband's daughter?"
S. J.

I suggest you say "my husband's daughter," and since she is married, it would be helpful to include her married name in your introduction: "Mrs. Foster, this is my husband's daughter, Mrs. Dowe."

'Bubble' Type Hot Breads Fun to Make

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

JANUARY DAYS ARE JUST THE TIME for serving hot breads. Fresh from the oven, a caramel glaze bubble loaf offers an enticing fragrance, matched by its superior flavor. Its foundation is an easily mixed sweet dough, its topping a rich glaze made from corn syrup. The "bubble" construction is unusual and fun to make.

This type of yeast bread is satisfying as a dessert, ideal for a breakfast bread on festive occasions and fills the bill when "something sweet" is needed to round out a menu. Whether it begins the breakfast menu or ends as a tea-time favorite, the bubble loaf offers solid nutritive values to enhance its good taste. The enriched flour used in the recipe provides B vitamins, protein and iron.

BUBBLE LOAF

1 pkg. yeast, compressed or dry granular
¼ cup lukewarm water
2 tsp. salt 2 tbsp. sugar
1 egg, beaten ¾ cup milk
2 tbsp. melted shortening
3½ to 4 cups sifted enriched flour

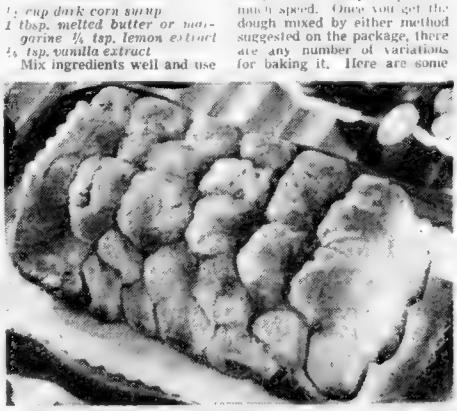
Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Scald milk. Add sugar and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Add 1 cup flour. Mix well. Add softened yeast and egg. Beat well. Add shortening. Mix well. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead until satiny. Place in greased bowl, cover and let rise until doubled. Punch down. Cover and let rest 10 minutes. Divide into pieces about the size of a walnut. Shape into balls and place ½ inch apart in a greased loaf pan. Arrange second layer of balls on first layer. Pour caramel glaze over all. Let rise until doubled. Bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Let stand 5 minutes. Turn out on cooling rack. Makes 2 bubble loaves.

CARAMEL GLAZE

½ cup dark corn syrup
1 tbsp. melted butter or margarine ¼ tsp. lemon extract
½ tsp. vanilla extract

Mix ingredients well and use as glaze on rolls or fancy breads.

You'll like using a packaged hot roll mix on days when you're pressed for time. The method for using it is almost as simple as the muffin mix — but, of course, where yeast is used we don't expect quite as much speed. Once you get the dough mixed by either method suggested on the package, there are any number of variations for baking it. Here are some that will fit nicely into your January meals.



CARAMEL GLAZE BUBBLE LOAF

COFFEE CAKE

Make dough in regular manner, using 1 whole egg as part of liquid (dissolve yeast in ½ cup water, stir in egg and add water to total 1 cup). Follow either "immediate baking" or "refrigerator method" directions. Use ½ of dough for coffee cake. Pat out dough to fit into a greased 8-inch baking pan. Perforate top with a fork. For streusel topping sift together 1/3 cup granulated sugar, 1/3 cup flour, ½ tsp. cinnamon and ¼ tsp. salt. Then blend in 3 tbsp. butter or margarine until crumbly. Sprinkle this mixture over top of dough. Cover and let stand in warm place until nearly double in volume. Bake 20 minutes in moderate oven (375 to 385 deg. F.). Makes 2 cakes.

For fruit topping: Slices of raw apples, peaches or well drained canned fruit can be placed in parallel rows on dough. Brush fruit with melted butter or margarine and sprinkle with brown sugar.

Lydia Lund in Debut Tonight

BOSTON'S BEAUTIFUL BLONDE, Lydia Lund, will be presented to society this evening at a dance given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Lund of West Cedar st., Beacon Hill, and Duxbury.

Popular and outstandingly pretty, Lydia was elected to the Junior League and the Vincent Club. Her party tonight will be at Hampshire House, in the glittering ballroom where some of Boston's best parties were staged when it was the mansion of one of Boston's First Families. Decorations will be kept simple and restricted to fresh flowers and greens to avoid dimming the beauty of the background.

For her party, Lydia has chosen a dream gown of white off-the-shoulder tulle, fashioned with many layers of tulle and lace for the skirt. Her flowers will be an old-fashioned bouquet of yellow and pink roses.

Her mother, Mrs. Lund, will wear silvery gray tulle over gray satin and a corsage of green orchids.

LYDIA LUND
Makes Debut Tonight

GUESTS at the ushers' dinner preceding the dance, will be Susan Palantyne, Joan Barry, Anne Child, Joan Buttrick, Jane Cox, Eleanor Crocker, Dorothy Hooper Wendy Howes, Zoe Lund, Mary Lee Morse, Anne O'Day, Molly Reynolds, Mary Sherman Parsons and Anne Woodbury.

Ushering will be Robert Almy, Jr., William Almy, 3d, Everett Chamberlain, Charles Fargo, John Goodhue, William Gray, Jr., Bradford Jameson, John Lund, Skidd Lund, Pope Marion, Kennedy Mitchell, Rienzi Parker, Roger Perry Jr., Robert Pihlerantz, Donald Seamans, Wilbur Turner, Charles Kennedy, Peter Rooney and Arthur King.

BRIEFS: Ann Sargent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Sargent of Chestnut Hill, and Virginia Barret Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Brown, also of Chestnut Hill, who both made their debuts in 1945, have opened a Record Shop in Brookline, thus capitalizing on their musical knowledge. Congratulations and good luck.

JOSEPH P. KENNEDY former Ambassador to England, and Mrs. Kennedy have opened their Palm Beach home and are attending the races at Gulfstream Park. With them is their daughter, the Marchioness of Hartington. Here's a hint on the current Florida weather—the best dressed are wearing their mink jackets and sable stoles!

"AUSTERITY" luncheons will precede the lecture Tuesday by Dr. Anna Lea Lelli at the Junior League. The National League of Italian Women is sponsoring the lecture. Dr. Lelli is making a tour of the United States to re-interpret her country to Americans. Food typical of present-day Italian menus, such as thin soup and black bread, will be served at luncheons given by Miss Katherine B. Child, Mrs. Anne Blake Frieberg, Mrs. Charles Calossi and Mrs. Robert Pfeiffer. Mrs. John G. Coolidge will give a tea Monday for Dr. Lelli and Mrs Edward L. Bowman will give another tea after the talk on Tuesday, at her Beacon st. home.

ANOTHER TEA on Tuesday will be given at the Charlotte Cushman Club for the entire cast of "I Remember Mama." Others from the casts of the "Ice Capades," "The Student Prince," "Men We Marry" and "Power Without Glory" will also attend. Mrs. Malcolm Bradley French, club president, will be assisted by Mrs. Clayton Hawkridge, Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, Mrs Charles E. Bacon, Mrs. Richard A. Erhlich, Mrs. Ralph P. Worden, and others.

'Good News' with June Allyson Still Tops

"Good News" was all of that, notably in the tune department, when in 1927 it built up a terrific Broadway circulation.

"Good News," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer musical based on the 20-year-old stage hit and presently bouncing its brash, prettily Technicolored gayety across Loew's twin screens, is not the best news as filmusicals go. It is though pleasanter than most, and never doubt it, again because of its melodious, now nostalgic score . . . and radiant June Allyson.

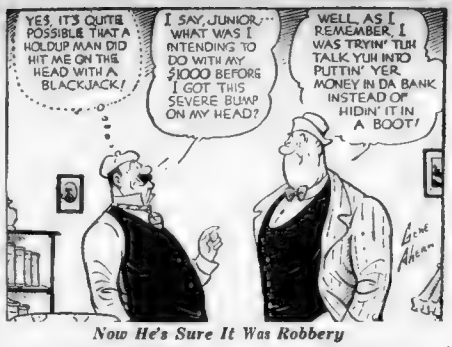
The film's brightest sequences involve the ear-teasing title-song, of course, and those other captivating numbers, "The Best Things In Life Are Free," "Lucky In Love," "Varsity Drag" and "Just Imagine."

These alone insure its box-office markmanship. But can't I dream of what a honey of a picture "Good News" could have been if not only the score but the savor of the original had been retained?

Granted the settings and the slanguage of the Twenties have been more or less accurately approximated in the Betty Comden-Adolph Green adaptation of the musical comedy by Lawrence Schwab, Lew Brown, Frank Mandel, B. G. DeSylva and Ray Henderson.

Otherwise and unhappily, this throwback to the boozy, boisterous Twenties is just fooling around as a period-piece. It has yanked up its waistline from the ugly, hip-girdling lowth, modified its extravagant makeup, modernized its ludicrously exaggerated dance mannerisms and generally pitched its personality out the window.

But, as indicated earlier, you can always close your eyes and listen to the score. Or, open them and your ears WIDE the better to enjoy the sight and sound of Miss Allyson's sunny, serious co-ed who is working her way through college as a librarian and finally wins the halfback (the bobbysoxers' dreamboat, Peter Lawford) with the near-sighted heart.—P. D.



YES, IT'S QUITE POSSIBLE THAT A HOLDUP MAN DID HIT ME ON THE HEAD WITH A BLACKJACK!
I SAY, JUNIOR... WHAT WAS I INTENDING TO DO WITH MY $1000 BEFORE I GOT THIS SEVERE BUMP ON MY HEAD?

Exeter's 'To Live in Peace' Joins All-Time Best Films

By PEGGY DOYLE

The Italian film makers, who gave us "Open City" and "Shoe Shine," have now sent us "To Live In Peace" to make a triumphant triumvirate to challenge any country's cinematic achievements since the war.

"To Live In Peace," now to be seen at the Exeter Street Theater is a great picture of almost Biblical significance and at the same time it is a wonderfully hilarious experience.

It tells in simple, warm earthy terms of a poor, hard-working farmer and his wife living in a small Italian village who go through most of the war untouched by real hardship. With inevitable suddenness, tragedy strikes at them when two American soldiers, escaped from a Nazi prison camp, come to their farm seeking refuge.

The Nazis have threatened death to anyone who conceals them but one soldier, a Negro, is badly wounded, and the farmer agrees to hide them. In the course of weeks a romance develops between the other American soldier and the farmer's niece and the Negro, his hurts mended, is warmly, unquestioningly welcomed into the family circle.

Then one night a homesick Nazi officer, who has been imbibing too deeply of the farmer's wine, and the Negro, who had been hidden in the farm cellar and likewise been foxed by the grape, crash into each other in the terrified hush of the assembled family.

It is a fantastically comic moment when the two, in veritas vino, fall into each other's arms, instantly forget all about the war and paint the town red in an excess of inebriated joyousness.

Aldo Fabrizi, the priest in "Open City," plays the farmer magnificently, creating a man who is as unconscious of his own greatness of spirit as he is of the unmixed madness of any of God's creatures.

He dominates the picture, as the late Raimu used to dominate any picture in which he appeared, and which is not to diminish the excellence of their respective supporting casts. Each performance is beautifully right and John Kitzmiller (the Negro soldier who never acted before, was given a 20-day furlough by the Army as a good-will gesture and was not allowed to take any money for appearing in the film) is remarkable, additionally. In "To Live In Peace," he is a man like any other man, which is as it should be to Italian audiences who do not understand racial problems because they are not natural problems.

A lustily human comedy, "To Live In Peace" is a glowing story of generosity to warm the heart, to wet the eye and send your laughter ricocheting down the wind.

GI Rescues Two MP's Overboard From Ferry

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—Two military policemen were rescued by an 18-year-old Army private today after the staff car in which they were riding plunged through the guard rail of a ferry boat into the chilly waters of the Manhattan slip.

Rescued were Sgt. Morris Butel, 30, and PFC Raymond Foster, both of Ft. Jay, Governors Island.

Pvt. William Schafter, also of Ft. Jay, plunged into the water and carried a life preserver to Butel and Foster.

Crosby, Hope, Lamour Repeat In 'Road to Rio' Riot at Met

It is the fifth road the adventurers are taking with those inseparable gadabouts, Bing Crosby, Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour, in "Road To Rio."

But don't think it isn't fun. Much of the journey, it is true, is over familiar ground but rarely has the going been faster or funnier. The laughs come with such frequency and volume that too many times a gag-induced chortle blanks out the punch-line, a little matter that scripters Edmund Beloin and Jack Rose should have foreseen.

The footloose friendly enemies team up as South America-bound musicians in their latest junket at Paramount's expense. Aboard ship they tangle with the much-chaperoned heiress impersonated beautifully by Miss Lamour and her "aunt," whom Gale Sondergaard portrays with considerable menace.

This is tangling in spades, of course, and there are times when the beleaguered beauty must have preferred being under her wicked relative's hypnotic spell to the pillar-to-post precariousness extended by her slap-happy knights-errant.

All of it is as nutty as a Xavier Cougat nougat, and Bing and Bob appear to be having as much fun as the customers. Their teamwork and timing in this mirthful marathon of gags and tunes and topical spoofing are perfection.

Assisting capably are the Wiere Brothers, as a dopey Latin trio; Joseph Vitale, Nestor Paiva, Frank Faylen, Jerry "the Talking Mustache" (credit Variety), Colonna and James Van Heusen and Johnny Burke's hot-as-paprika, Robert Emmett Dolan-directed score.—P. D.

"Wild Irish Rose" At Para-Fenway

"My Wild Irish Rose," with Dennis Morgan in the Chauncey Olcott role, is now to be seen on the Paramount and Fenway screens, having completed a capacity week at the Met.

Joe Louis Must Fight to Pay Up His Ring Debts

By AUSTEN LAKE

JOE LOUIS, THE TOP terrestial fisticuffer, confesses that maybe he'll change his proposal to quit the nauseous science after his next summer's return collision with Jersey Joe Walcott. He thinks he "might fight a few more fights."

This typifies the usual attitude of old sport heroes as they verge toward their muscular decline. For the last thing an eldering athlete will concede is the approach of his physical zero, the time when he must bow to nature's inexorable law and take the load off his legs.

Until lately, pursuing youth has existed in Louis' ears only as following footfalls—youth which inevitably will fill his place and inherit his cheers. Joe's only consolation is that, in its turn, new youth and more following footfalls will haunt today with the threat of tomorrow, so that the hot breath of successive sport generations will always be blowing on the spines of current idols.

We of the newspaper side have watched many champions pass, some glad to lift the burden from their feet, some stubbornly clinging to an illusion and some detained by avarice.

THERE WAS JIMMY BRADDOCK and Ty Cobb and Gene Tunney who bowed out philosophically, saying they preferred to have folk remember them as sterling athletes instead of leg-weary hulks. And Jack Sharkey, and Mickey Walker and Benny Leonard who came back to squeeze out their last drop of usefulness and wound up with their face a mass of purple hillocks. Of all, including Jim Thorpe, Jack Dempsey, Red Grange, Rabbit Maranville, Strangler Lewis, Lefty Grove and others, I think the champion who departed with the most dignity was a horse. And though the decision was that of his master, the late Man O'War carried off with a vast majesty which was still embodied in his old age, which terminated last summer. He lived in the lush Blue Grass country of Kentucky, where swarms of people came to gaze through the white washed fences. The old Grandsire dwelt in a spotless stable and enjoyed a private pasture among his many wives.

Yes, Joe, the period of athletic production is short—much shorter on the average than yours has been. So get it while you can and save what you get. For they tell me, for all the millions that have passed through your hands, you are close to being broke.

When Joe was a young, vital champion, sharpening his reflexes at Pompton Lakes, N. J., old Sam Langford used to lurk on his lawns, nearly sightless and feeding on the crusts of charity, selling postcards and giving away vast quantities of conversation. Old Sam stood as a pitiful husk of a once splendid athlete. His features were smeared with a wide grin. As a primitive type his needs were small . . . a bar of eating tobacco, a downtown loft flop, a little food bought from his store of small coins, a misfit suit of castoff clothes.

He was a tragic warning to Louis, who dwelt in snug comfort among his male chaperons and who, at a tender age in his early twenties, had won fame and wealth. On the lawns below his sleeping rooms the black pauper, who once was a wizard of his fistic craft, loitered to invite alms and retell his old legend. A shadow of old memory, a bogged down derelict who was awash with an unheeding human tide which flowed past and into Louis' training theater.

BEING GENEROUS, JOYOUS and inclined to varying forms of early spending, the history of the Negro fighter has been largely one of spendthrift misfortune. Youths from the brick bottoms and cotton patches found themselves suddenly rich beyond their dreams and couldn't realize that the flow of money was exhaustible and brief. It came too easy. So the Battling Sikis, Kid Chocolates, Jack Johnsons and Sam Langfords who made it fast during their physical prime, scattered it just as rapidly in ingenious ways known only to themselves. In the end they wound up flat busted, panhandling and sick.

Of the comparitive few colored fighters who managed to break through the crust of white prejudice before Louis arrived, Harry Wills and Tiger Flowers stand as two who revealed a quality of common sense and invested their assets in trust funds while living frugal, sober lives. Wills bought himself and wife a little pension and a block of Harlem apartments. And Flowers, the old middleweight who died on an operating table, was a pious, Bible reading man who used to stuff scriptural readings into his fighting mittens before entering the ring. He lived simply as befitted a deacon in the Methodist-Abyssinian church and left an ample stake for his family.

Kid Chocolate, a Havana Negro was to the bantam class what Joe Louis is to the heavyweights, an elusive smudge who did a tireless gnat dance and ripped his padded mittens in with savage ferocity. He earned more than $200,000 but spent it all. Sikl, of course, was a half-madman from Barbary who wound up dead in a Manhattan gutter. Johnson, after selling his title to Willard, tried bullfighting, jazz leading and auto racing until he too ended dead behind his auto wheel with nothing but what was in his pockets.

But Langford was victim of a barbaric time, possibly the best man of his weight who ever lived but one who, through his need to eat, let many inferior whites stay upright to win graceless decisions. Louis, in his declining years, deserves a better fate and I trust, in his few remaining fights he will win him a sufficient stake to keep him in comfort. He has done too much for his race and boxing to become one of memory's mendicants.

Sox Seen After Agganis, Bullard in Joyce Move

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Whither Harry Agganis? Whither Georgie Bullard? Every college in the land would like to grab off the Lynn Classical quarterback who was named captain of the American All-Scholastic eleven a month back. Which college, if any, will get him is still undecided. But eventually, our guess is he'll land with the Boston Red Sox as a first baseman.

The same is applicable to the Classical halfback, another unanimous All choice and a youngster who, although only a junior in high school, will not be eligible for further interscholastic competition after the close of the school term. Like Agganis, he, too, will likely be a big-leaguer, prepping in the Sox chain as a shortstop.

That seemed assured today when Eddie Doherty, Red Sox publicist, called to say that Joe Cronin had named Bill Joyce, Lynn Classical coach, president of the Red Sox farm club in Lynn, a member of the Class B New England League.

Agganis is rated just as fine a baseball prospect as he is in football. He was a first baseman on every all scholastic club last spring. The Sox have been after him and it is reported they were willing to go high in the bidding.

Bullard, too, was equally well liked by scouts as he played a leading role in bringing the State championship to Lynn last spring. He outhit Agganis this past year and it's an admitted fact that Coach Joyce has already written Pres. Happy Chandler asking permission to talk terms with Bullard.

The Sox do not like their prospects to play football. Tony Lupien, Harvard fullback, stopped playing football as soon as he signed with the Sox, much to the discomfiture of Dick Harlow, who had groomed him to replace Vernon Struck, the "Magnificent Faker." Nor did Red Daughters play any more football for Holy Cross after signing a Sox contract.

Before accepting the position, Coach Joyce made it understood with Red Sox officials that the new post would in no way interfere with his capacity at the high school.

"That was the main reason why this announcement had been held up," said Coach Joyce. "I only have one year to go before retirement and I'd like to stay at the high school at least that long.

"Will Agganis and Bullard come with the Red Sox? Well, that's questionable. I'm hoping that Harry will go into college next fall," continued Joyce, "and I'm hoping that Bullard will continue in school until he gets his diploma.

"As yet, we don't know Bullard's status, but I'm waiting now for a reply from Chandler."

Military Funeral For Editor Lane in Revere Tomorrow

The funeral of Frederick C (Freddy) Lane, 52, sports makeup editor of the Boston American and one of Boston's best known newspapermen, will be held tomorrow with a solemn high Mass of Requiem at St. Theresa's Church, Revere, at 9 a. m. followed by burial in St. Joseph's Cemetery, Lynn.

Full military honors will be paid by the Georgetown American Legion Post earlier at the De Neill Funeral Home, 381 Broadway, Revere.

Lane, a chief radioman in the Navy in World War I, died of smoke inhalation after being trapped by fire in his home at 10 Beachland ave., Revere. At the time, the victim's wife, Mrs. Bernice Murphy Lane, was visiting only a street away at the home of a son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Wall of Calumet st., accompanied by a son, Frederick C. Lane, Jr. Destroyed in the fire were wedding gifts of another daughter, Miss Geraldine Lane, 20, who soon was to be wed.

Born in the Kerry Village section of the South End, Lane attended schools of the district before moving to Revere. He was a graduate of Huntington School. He joined the Boston American soon afterwards and last year completed his 30th year with the paper.

Besides his widow and children he leaves several brothers and sisters, including Raymond Lane, retired Boston detective.

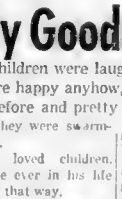
Freddy Good-Cheer Man

All the children were laughing.

They were happy anyhow, but the little man had come in not long before and pretty soon their quiet games were forgotten and they were swarming all over him.

He'd always loved children. I don't think he ever in his life thought about it that way.



Freddy Lane

He'd scoff if you mentioned it, but kindness and a generous heart were his in large measure. He was small in stature, but he was a little giant inside, where it counts.

Like as not he'd have you laughing, for he had a lightning-fast funny bone. If he had ever taken time to be a writing humorist he had the rare gift that would have earned him fame and fortune.

But Freddy didn't care about fame, or fortune either. His sense of laughter was so keen that he'd poke fun at himself and laugh, just as he laughed at the pompous and vain and mean and crooked creatures who moved across his line of vision.

And his view was broad, too, just as his field of friendship was as wide as life itself with an army of folks, of high and low estate, who knew him well.

His background included a sound education, topped off at Huntington School where he was a good athlete despite his slight figure, and he became known as a top-flight coxswain on some outstanding crews. Later, after he established himself as a school and major league sports writer, he became an able football official and earned many a handy dollar for his growing family, in this field, until his duties as a makeup editor confined him to the office.

His ready gift for friendship won him a host of good friends, and his was a familiar figure at major sports events the year 'round.

But green will be his memory with me because he loved children best and in making them laugh and play reaped a rich reward of their love and devotion. How can you help loving a guy like that?

Red Sox Prospect In Hospital

Richard Palm, 22-year-old pitcher from Belmont, who is scheduled to travel south with the Red Sox next month, underwent an emergency operation at Symmes Arlington Hospital Tuesday in an effort to relieve a twisted tube in the lower abdominal region. He is resting comfortably.

Palm was due to leave for Miami today and depart from there tomorrow on a winter professional baseball tour of Panama with the Colon Baseball Club led by Mike Kiernan. The operation will necessitate cancellation of this trip. Palm will rest up until March when spring training begins.

Kearns Predicts Maxim Victory Over Tandberg

By JACK CONWAY

IF ONE is to believe Jack (Doc) Kearns, Olle Tandberg of Sweden will meet with defeat when he collides with Joe Maxim at the New York Garden a week from tonight. Tandberg was an unimportant piece of fistic crockery until he furnished a surprise by outscoring Joe Baksi.

Baksi was on a European tour at the time. He was absorbing some international color as he prepared for a battle with Joe Louis. When offered the Tandberg bout, Baksi was advised by some of his friends to pass it up for defeat meant the loss of the crack at Louis.

Baksi could not conceive the crude Swedish heavyweight defeating him, and he went through with the bout to his sorrow. If Baski had turned down the Tandberg bout, got himself in good condition and fought Louis he might be heavyweight champion of the world today.

The average heavyweight spends a good part of his life dreaming of the day he will meet the champion, and few of them have their dreams come true.

Baksi had the pole on all his rivals for a crack at the "Bomber," but his own ill advised actions deprived him of it, and placed Jersey Joe Walcott in line for the title and a fortune.

• I have never seen Tandberg box. He was introduced from the New York Garden ring on the night of the Louis-Walcott tussle. He is a big, good looking blond. He appears to possess plenty of power in his huge frame. Persons who saw him beat Baksi tell me the Swede still has much to learn about boxing, but that he can punch and possesses plenty of courage.

Maxim is wise in the affairs of the ring. He won one decision out of three meetings with Jersey Joe Walcott.

Jack Kearns knows the value of a win over Tandberg, and he is certain to have Maxim ready for the test. I had breakfast with Maxim one morning at the Edison Hotel in New York. He is a big, handsome fellow with jet black hair. He reminds one of Jack Dempsey of 25 years ago. If Maxim can fight half as well as the old Manassa Mauler could when he was coupled with that intangible something known as youth he will go a long ways against the present crop of ordinary heavyweights.

CO-CAPT. BOB SULLIVAN of Holy Cross will receive the O'Melia Trophy, which he won by a vote of sports writers for being the outstanding player at the recent Holy Cross-Boston College game, at a dinner of the Holy Cross Club of Boston at the Harvard Club of Boston on next Thursday night. It has been a prolonged football season for Sullivan as he has kept busy accepting honors from various groups. Bob made a big hit with those persons in attendance at the Gridiron Club when he was presented the Bulger Lowe trophy.

Holy Cross followers are still in a jubilant mood as a result of the victory of their club over Boston College after earlier football disappointments. This enthusiasm is sure to be reflected at the dinner at the Harvard Club.

The Boston College Varsity Club is planning to pay tribute to its football team on Sunday evening, Jan. 11, at the Copley Plaza. John Curley, athletic director of Boston College who became ill following the St. Mary's game, will attend the dinner, and he may outline some of his plans for 1948.

Hubert Valentine, the Irish tenor who was brought to this country by the late Jack McGrath of Worcester, was married last Saturday in Worcester to Kathryn Ursula O'Connor, according to an announcement made by the bride's sister, Mrs. Timothy Francis Dunphy . . . It was McGrath who discovered Da O'Mahony when the latter was a member of the Irish Free State army . . . McGrath made the trip to Ireland to sign Dr. Patrick O'Callaghan . . . The latter refused a $125,000 guarantee and a percentage privilege for a five year period . . . McGrath then attended a track meet where he saw Danno defeat O'Callaghan tossing weights . . . McGrath quickly signed O'Mahony and forgot about O'Callaghan . . . Danno later became a wrestling sensation in this country.

Steve Casey was McGrath's next wrestling importation from Ireland . . . Steve, like Danno, won the world heavyweight title, but he never drew the crowds that greeted the youthful O'Mahony . . . The latter has been making his home in California where he conducts a restaurant called the "Irish Whip," since he returned from service in the Army overseas . . . Casey makes his home in the Back Bay and he is training once more following an operation for spinal injuries caused by an accident which occurred while he was helping to lay mines outside of the harbor at Portsmouth, N. H. during the war . . . Steve says he will be ready for action in February, and he looks forward to getting a crack at Frank Sexton title holder who has been campaigning in California.

I have received an invitation from Mayor-elect Eddie Bradley of Somerville to attend his inauguration ceremonies at the Somerville High School Auditorium on Jan. 5 at 8 p. m. . . . Mayor Bradley still finds time in his busy day to act as a referee at amateur boxing shows . . . During the war, he helped put on boxing shows with Gene Driscoll at Army and Navy camps.

Is Michigan Better Than Notre Dame?

NEW YORK, Jan. 2 (AP) — Michigan's thumping 49-0 Rose Bowl victory over Southern California re-kindled the fire today under the hottest argument of the 1947 college football season. Notre Dame's unbeaten and untied Fighting Irish were voted the outstanding team of the year in the Associated Press' final poll of sports writers, but the Michigan adherents point to yesterday's victory at Pasadena in laying claim to at least a share of the mythical collegiate championship of the nation.

"Mythical" must remain the word for it, for the Wolverines have now clearly established that they come as close as possible to sharing the throne with the Irish—if a co-championship could settle any feuds.

Fritz Crisler's Big Nine champions, by completely outclassing the West Coast standard-bearers by the most lopsided score in modern Rose Bowl history, eclipsed the 38-7 shellacking Notre Dame handed U. S. C. last Dec. 6.

It was a duplicate of the 49-0 rally by which Michigan's famed "point-a-minute" team swamped Stanford in the inaugural Tournament of Roses clash 45 years ago and it was the worst defeat in 50 years of football at Southern California.

None of the other New Year's Day contests ended on such a decisive note as the Pasadena spectacle but most of them lived up to advance billing in offering money's worth entertainment. An estimated half-million spectators sat in on the score or more post-season offerings, with Pasadena's 93,000 turnout tops for the day.

The clash of two of the nation's unbeaten elevens before 17,000 in Dallas' Cotton Bowl saw Penn State's Nittany Lions come charging back from a 13-0 deficit at the hands of Southern Methodists' Mustangs to gain a 13-13 tie. The Mustangs' Doak Walker justified his All-America reputation by figuring in both S. M. U. touchdowns and otherwise engineering the Mustangs' strategy, while all of who't Bob Hoggs teams his "11 man All-America" shared honors for the Lions.

The crowd of 60,000 which turned out for the Orange Bowl clash at Miami was held spellbound as Georgia Tech beat back Kansas 20-14 after the Jayhawkers blew a golden scoring opportunity in the final minutes.

Most Spectacular Ice Derby Pledged For This Season

The New Year is here and with it comes the most spectacular of 13 annual American-Record-Sunday Advertiser Silver Skates Derbies. The Derby, which will be held at the Garden on Feb. 1, will have more skaters racing for the speed skating championship than ever before in all Derby history.

Today completes the first week that the Derby entry blank has been printed in the sports pages of these three papers. Indications are for a new Derby record. Derby entries continue to keep a pace some 40 per cent above last year's early figures.

Silver Skates Derby Director Ben Levis states that he will not be satisfied until 1000 skaters race for the Derby championships. The 1946 figure was 480 skaters. Last year 623 speed skaters wore Derby colors. This year the entry figure will hit 700.

"True, there are other speed skating championships held annually throughout New England," continued Levis, "but the Silver Skates Derby now rates far above any of these other shows. The Derby has great crowd appeal."

It is so simple to be a part of this mammoth ice show that there is no excuse for anyone being left out.

Clip the entry blank from the page and get it into the mail today. The Derby is entirely FREE to every skater. Age is no bar.

Buy Olympic Ski Button And Win Free Snow Trip

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

If you want to start the New Year on the right ski, why not contribute to the U. S. Olympic Ski Team Fund? Olympic Buttons, costing only one dollar, are on sale at all sporting goods stores and clubs. Until Jan. 10, anyone purchasing a button may enter a free week-end at one of these five resorts: Worthy Inn, Manchester, Vt.; Tip Top Lodge, Stowe, Vt.; Lovett's, Franconia, N. H.; the Eastern Slope Inn, North Conway, N. H.; and Lake Placid Club, Lake Placid, N. Y.

America's ski squad consists of 30 stars of the slippery slats, and nine of the athletes are from New England! For this reason alone, skiers in this section should be proud enough to back the boys and gals, who learned the art in the White or Green Mountains.

To train each racer, cross country runner, or jumper, the cost is $1500 per head, including transportation to and from St. Moritz, Switzerland. The sum needed for the team has been placed at $52,000, which is being raised by skiers of the country.

Quota for the East is about $16,000, but to date, not more than half of this amount has been obtained! Thus, this region is put to shame by the West, where many areas have exceeded their quota.

If the sum isn't raised here, it will be an unforgettable disgrace and a cloud on the East, which always boasts of "having the skiers."

Donations may also be mailed to the Olympic Ski Team Fund, Conn., 745 Devonshire st., Boston. Chairman of the Committee is Alex Bright, Boston's "grandpa of ski racers," and a former Olympic ace.

QUICK CHRISTIES: The Winnipesaukee Ski Club will sponsor a showing of John Jay's fine film, "Singing Skis," at the High School Auditorium, Laconia, N. H., next Monday evening. And we're glad to state that all proceeds will go to the Olympic Fund. Ken Boothroyd is the new president of this live outfit. The former head of the Cannon Mt. Ski Patrol will keep the members on the toes or tips—of their skis!

Bernsten-White Bout At Mechanics Cancelled

H. C. Tackles St. Louis Five In Mound City

By FRED HOEY

Doggy Julian and his Swish Kids from Holy Cross hold the basketball spotlight again tonight when they play St. Louis University in the Mound City.

This is the Crusaders' second stop on their present tour. The third comes up for decision Sunday when they play De Paul in Chicago.

Comparative scores, as a rule, furnish scanty leads when one tries to analyze an impending court battle. But the fact that St. Louis had to exert extreme pressure to overcome Georgetown, 63-58, on its home court leads the average fan to believe that HC has a good chance to tip over the home boys.

Georgetown will always be rated as a strong team while they have such a star as Danny Kraus in the lineup, but it's a question whether the rest of the team carries the balance of HC. So, if the Ahoya boys were able to force the issue against St. Louis up to the last second of play, there is no reason to believe the Crusaders, with their veteran two-platoons, can't do the same, probably with more power and polish.

There is no question but that all teams are gunning for HC since it knocked off Navy, C. C. of N. Y. and Oklahoma to win the NCAA title last spring.

HC's 56-51 overtime win over North Carolina State has sent local basketball interest skyrocketing. If the Crusaders can dispose of St. Louis and DePaul, it will be one of the real court achievements of the season.

HC's setback by Columbia didn't surprise Ivy League followers who could have told the basketball world that the Lions were loaded with veterans in addition to playing the game on their own bandbox court.

Just how good this Columbia team really is will be determined next Tuesday at the Arena when it plays Harvard.

The Crusaders are taking each game in stride. They are looking ahead to the big game with Rhode Island State at the Garden Tuesday, Jan. 20. It is almost impossible to obtain tickets for this important clash which may eventually determine the New England collegiate championship.

Busy Week-End For Olympic Six

A busy week-end is in store for Walter Brown's Amateur Hockey Ass'n six that will represent this country in the Olympic games from Jan. 30 to Feb. 8 at Switzerland.

Coach Johnny Garrison has two scrimmage sessions on hand for today with outside competition, and more practice sessions for tomorrow and Sunday as the AHA six will spend its last week-end at home.

Boston College will offer the team an hour's scrimmage between 4:30 and 5:30 o'clock today followed by another 60 minutes with Coach Herb Gallagher's Northeastern Huskies.

No outside competition has been lined up for Saturday or Sunday, rough edges. The group sails from New York for Europe a week from tomorrow on the Queen Elizabeth and will play approximately 30 games in Europe before returning late in February.

Bruins Regain Winning Touch

By BILL GRIMES

The Bruins really hit the jackpot last night, for they beat the Rangers, 4 to 1, broke a five-game losing streak and took over fourth place in its entirety.

The Clappermen haven't been as impressive on home ice since Nov. 19, when they hung a 7 to 2 defeat on the Maple Leafs. They played heads-up hockey throughout the fray. Time and again their clever passing game had the Broadwayites completely baffled. In fact, on a few occasions, they looked like the Rangers of the Cook-Boucher-Cook era.

Murray Henderson was the big star. He broke the scoreless tie late in the first period by converting on a pass from Billy Taylor, and chalked up another tally in the middle stanza, aided and abetted by Taylor and Wally Wilson.

On is second goal, "Moe" looked like a finished scorer. Taylor started the play by getting the puck to Wilson, who went into the attacking zone before passing out to the left wing, where Henderson was in full flight. Murray completed the pass, cut in on the cage, and then faked a shot. His fake pulled Jim "Sugar" Henry out of position and he backhanded the disc into the net.

Eddie Sandford and Woody Dumart contributed the other markers. Sandford got the puck from Kenny Smith during a melee to the right of the Ranger cage, but the Dumart goal, on which Jimmy Peters assisted, was as clean as an elk's tooth.

As usual, Frankie Brimsek was sensational in the cage. The Rangers fired rubber at him all evening but, with one e[illegible]ndled every shot like the master he is.

The whistle should have been blown on the play which resulted in the Rangers' lone goal. Late in the second period, with the puck in Boston territory, Referee Bill Chadwick was caught in a player traffic jam on the boards and spilled. The puck slid along the base of the dasher and entered the center zone. Apparently, neither linesman saw the incident. So, when the puck was batted back to Phil Watson, who, under the circumstances, was off side, there was no whistle. Watson gave the puck to Billy O'Connor, who rifled it past "Mr. Zero" and the Boston goalie was deprived of a well-deserved shutout.

The Bruins will high tail it up to Montreal tonight to meet their "cousins," Les Canadiens.

Pres. Weston W. Adams nominated Murray Henderson, Frank Brimsek and Clare Martin for his three stars for the Jordan Marsh award and the fans who make the Charles F. Adams Trophy selection saw eye to eye with him on their first and second choices, but gave Pat Egan the nod over Clare Martin . . . Freddy Lane, whose accidental death yesterday shocked his legion of friends, was one of Pat Egan's most loyal fans . . . Pat was all broken up when he heard the news.

School Sextets Active At Arena on Week-end

Schoolboy hockey players have four more big sessions lined up for the week-end at the Boston Arena, starting tonight with the Eastern Mass. group in operation, continuing tomorrow morning and afternoon before the Catholic Leaguers wind up Sunday afternoon.

In the Esmass loop, Malden, battling Dedham, could practically clinch the title with a victory. Other games on this schedule tonight pair Natick vs. Brookline; Lexington vs. Somerville and Hudson vs. Wakefield.

Tomorrow, at 9 a. m., Boston schoolboys will open their campaigning with Brighton meeting Hyde Park, Charlestown facing East Boston and Roslindale opening a defense of the District crown against Brandeis. In the afternoon, Stoneham vs. Medford; Camb. Latin vs. Newton; Belmont vs. Rindge and Arlington vs. Melrose will make up the Greater Boston League pairings.

Sunday, the Catholic schedules matches Malden vs. St. Sebastian's; Central vs. St. Mary's (L); St. Clement's vs. Columbus and St. Mary's (W) vs. St. Patrick's (S).

DARTMOUTH FIVE IN NY

Dartmouth's basketball team, seeking revenge for a 57-53 whipping earlier this season, will meet Manhattan College tomorrow night at the Madison Square Garden.

DAVE WILSON PICKS FIVE WINNERS

Dave Wilson, ace handicapper for the Boston Evening American, got the New Year off to a roaring start at Gulfstream, Fla., where he came up with five winners.

Wilson's top choices included: G. Girl in the first, paying $11.50; Mannequin in the third, paying $14.20; Gestapo in the fifth, paying $3.30; Proud Reward in the seventh, paying $7.60, and Adenos in the eighth, paying $8.60.

Walt Judnich Signed By Cleveland Indians

CLEVELAND, Jan. 2 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians' front office announced today that outfielder Walt Judnich, obtained in a deal with the St. Louis Browns, had signed his 1948 contract.

Salary terms were not announced but Tribe President Bill Veeck said the fly chaser would receive considerably more than the Browns paid him last year.

Georgia Tech Tackle Signs With Hub Yanks

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 2 (AP)—All-America Tackle Bobby Davis today is a member of the Boston Yanks of the National Professional Football League.

The Georgia Tech tackle signed a three-year pro contract just one hour after the Yellow Jackets' 20 to 14 victory over Kansas.

Iron Man Davis gave another sensational performance in the Orange Bowl battle by playing 55 minutes of the game.

Boomerang—Hopping on a rebound from Bill Short's stick, Clark Wolf of Wellesley high school pushes the puck past Needham goalie Rudy Gerstner in today's Arena games. Allie Keefe (5) and Al Korzon (1), both of Needham, watch the play. This goal in the second period completed the scoring in a 2-2 game.

Bay State Leaders Win

Walpole and Watertown remained in a deadlock for first place in the Bay State Hockey League standings today as Walpole pasted B. C. High, 5 to 0, while Watertown blanked Framingham, 4 to 0, as 600 weather-defying fans watched at the Boston Arena.

In the other tilts Norwood came from behind to nip Waltham, 2 to 1, while a late stretch rush by Wellesley earned it a 2-2 draw with Needham.

Walpole's high scoring first wave of Stan Moore, Joe Morgan and Al Pari proved too much for the impotent Eaglets. Moore, scrappy left winger, turned in the vaunted "hat trick" to increase his season's point total to 13, with three goals and an assist. Morgan accounted for the other pair of goals.

Moore's first tally was a short, slap-shot out of a scramble in front of the B. C. High cage in the opening minutes of play. Taking a relay from Pari, Moore added his second marker in the first chapter, with Pari assisting again, he added his final in the closing minutes of the second period.

Two goals by center Art Shannon sparked the Watertown victory, defenseman Jack Carey setting up both. The score were almost carbon copies, Shannon sneaking through the Framingham defenses on both occasions to take long passes from Carey.

Goals by Ted Tocci and Pete Hullihen completed the Watertown scoring.

Waltham took an early lead on Norwood on a first period goal by Gus Carlson with Jim Stark assisting. Norwood, however, rallied in the middle session to forge in front. Art Vertze took a flip from Ameraulit and drove home a 15-footer and then Henry Trusevitch added the winning marker on a back-hander which was partially screened.

Trailing 2-0, when Al Korzon and Cy Hunt scored for Needham, Wellesley knotted the count when Clark Wolfe got rolling, setting up Jim Calder for the first goal and scoring the equalizer after grasping a rebound from Bill Short.

REPORT DI MAGGIO TO ASK $75,000

NEW YORK, Jan. 2 (AP)—The New York baseball Yankees disclosed today that General Manager George Weiss had conferred with Joe DiMaggio but declined comment on published reports that the American League's most valuable player had asked a 1948 salary of $75,000.

"The New York Yankees do not deny that they have entered into contract negotiations with Joe DiMaggio and other members of the team," the club said in a prepared statement.

"It has been mutually agreed by DiMaggio and George Weiss, vice-president and general manager of the Yankees that no publicity will be given on any details of these negotiations.

"The Yankees therefore have no comment to make on publicity given to any figure supposedly mentioned in a conference earlier this week."

AHA Six Stymied Again

By BOB WALDO

Still intent on blocking any attempt of Walter Brown's AHA hockey team to participate in the Olympic winter games at St. Moritz, the U. S. Olympic committee officials, in their latest move, informed the AHA that its team would not be permitted to wear the Olympic insignia or be referred to as the U. S. Olympic team.

The communication in the form of a letter from John T. McGovern, general counsellor for the Olympic committee, was received today by A. H. A. heads.

This is only one of several recent attempts to stymie the plans of Coach Johnny Garrison and his 15-player squad that will sail on the Queen Mary from New York Saturday, Jan. 9, for Europe.

In its first move, following the acceptance by the Swiss International committee of the A. H. A. entry, Avery Brundage of the A. A. U. threatened to withdraw all other teams from the winter games.

Another obstacle by the Immigration Department was hurdled when it was deemed necessary that proofs that the A. H. A. had booked passage for the applicants before clearing the way for the issuance of passports to the squad.

In the face of all the hardships worked on the officials and members of the A. H. A. team it is going ahead with its plans for embarking for Europe where it will play several exhibition games before jumping into the champion series with other countries.
